always matched its practices with its rhetoric concerning the enlisted force but overall the trend has been in the direction of emphasizing training education and professionalization Enlisted members particularly senior noncommissioned officers have played crucial roles in supporting the service s vision for its enlisted force Again and again they provided the day to day ground level leadership that held things together in the face of the many challenges confronting the service Through the ups and downs in the provision of pay housing and medical care the Korean and Vietnam Wars the integration of African Americans and women the transition to the all volunteer force and the end of the Cold War U S Air Force NCOs stepped up to the leadership challenges presented them They are a proud group with their own heroes schools professional organizations traditions and memorials As the Air Force looked to its enlisted personnel for crucial leadership in its first half century it will in all probability continue to rely on its enlisted leadership as it enters the twenty first century Encyclopedia of US Air Force Aircraft and Missile Systems: Post-World War II bombers, 1945-1973 Marcelle Size Knaack,1978
