The Holocaust In American Film:

The Holocaust in American Film Judith E. Doneson, 1987 Discusses the way films have increased public awareness of the Holocaust the great dictator Cabaret Julia The pawnbroker as well as the NBC Mini Series Holocaust are discussed at length Also discusses The diary of Anne Frank The Holocaust in American Film Judith E. Doneson, 2002-01-01 This work offers insights into how specific films influenced the Americanization of the Holocaust and how the medium per se helped seed that event into the public consciousness In addition to an in depth study on films produced for both theatrical release and TV since 1937 including The Great Dictator Cabaret Julia and the mini series Holocaust this work provides an analysis of Schindler s List and the debate over the merit of Spielberg s vision of the Holocaust It also examines more thoroughly made for television movies such as Escape From Sobibor Playing For Time and War and Remembrance A special chapter on The Diary of Anne Frank discusses the evolution of that singularly European work into a universal symbol Paying special attention to the tumultuous 1960s in America it assesses the effect of the era on Holocaust films made during that time It also discusses how these films helped integrate the Holocaust into the fabric of American society transforming it into a metaphor for modern suffering Finally the work explores cinema in relation to the Americanization of the Jewish image First Films of the Holocaust Jeremy Hicks, 2019-12-03 Most early Western perceptions of the Holocaust were based on newsreels filmed during the Allied liberation of Germany in 1945 Little however was reported of the initial wave of material from Soviet filmmakers who were in fact the first to document these horrors In First Films of the Holocaust Jeremy Hicks presents a pioneering study of Soviet contributions to the growing public awareness of the horrors of Nazi rule Even before the war the Soviet film Professor Mamlock which premiered in the United States in 1938 and coincided with the Kristallnacht pogrom helped reinforce anti Nazi sentiment Yet Soviet films were often dismissed or even banned in the West as Communist propaganda Ironically in the brief 1939 1941 period of Nazi and Soviet alliance such films were also banned in the Soviet Union only to be reclaimed after the Nazi attack on the Soviet Union in 1941 and suppressed yet again during the Cold War Jeremy Hicks recovers much of the major film work in Soviet depictions of the Holocaust and views them within their political context both locally and internationally Overwhelmingly wartime films were skewed to depict Soviet resistance Red funerals and calls for vengeance rather than the singling out of Jewish victims by the Nazis Almost no personal testimony of victims or synchronous sound was recorded furthering the disconnection of the viewer to the victims Hicks examines correspondence scripts reviews and compares edited with unedited film to unearth the deliberately hidden Jewish aspects of Soviet depictions of the German invasion and occupation To Hicks it s in the silences gaps and ellipses that the films speak most clearly Additionally he details the reasons why Soviet Holocaust films have been subsequently erased from collective memory in the West and the Soviet Union their graphic horror their use as propaganda tools and the postwar rise of the Red Scare in the United States and anti Semitic campaigns in the Soviet Union American Film and Society since 1945 Leonard

Cinema and the Shoah Jean-Michel Frodon, 2010-01-08 From The Great Dictator to Schindler's List the extermination of the Jews of Europe has driven the cinema more than any other form of artistic expression to question its methods techniques and ethics It is with reference to the Shoah that a decisive part of the thought behind modern cinema has been constructed and consciously or not many of the greatest films of the past sixty years bear the mark of this event To give an account of these phenomena Cinema and the Shoah brings together filmmakers historians journalists philosophers and researchers to explore how the Shoah as a historical event implicated and mobilized the cinema by profoundly questioning its modes of recounting and storytelling of putting visions onscreen The book also includes a filmography compiled with the assistance of the Fritz Bauer Institute of Frankfurt that lists over three hundred feature length films short films and documentaries about the Shoah produced between 1945 and the present Department of the Interior and Related Agencies Appropriations for 1985: Justification of the budget estimates United States. Congress. House. Committee on Appropriations. Subcommittee on Department of the Interior and Related Agencies,1984 Department of the Interior and related agencies appropriations for 1985 United States. Congress. House. Committee on Appropriations. Subcommittee on Department of the Interior and Related Agencies,1984 Film and Genocide Kristi M. Wilson,Tomás F. Crowder-Taraborrelli,2012-01-04 Film and Genocide brings together scholars of film and of genocide to discuss film representations both fictional and documentary of the Holocaust the Armenian genocide and genocides in Chile Australia Rwanda and the United States Since 1955 when Alain Resnais created his experimental documentary Night and Fog about the Nazis mass killings of Jews and other ostracized groups filmmakers have struggled with using this medium to tell such difficult stories to re create the sociopolitical contexts of genocide and to urge awareness and action among viewers This volume looks at such issues as realism versus fiction the challenge of depicting atrocities in a manner palatable to spectators and film distributors the Holocaust film as a model for films about other genocides and the role of new technologies in disseminating films about genocide Film and Genocide also includes interviews with three film directors who discuss their experiences in working with deeply disturbing images and bringing hidden stories to life Irek Dobrowolski director of The Portraitist 2005 a documentary about Wilhelm Brasse an Auschwitz Birkenau prisoner ordered to take more than 40 000 photos at the camp Nick Hughes director of 100 Days 2005 a dramatic film about the Rwandan mass killings and Greg Barker director of Ghosts of Rwanda 2004 a television documentary for Frontline The American Jewish Story Through Cinema Eric A. Goldman,2013-04-15 Like the haggadah the traditional telling of the story of the Israelites exodus from Egypt that is read at the Passover seder cinema offers a valuable text from which to gain an understanding of the social political and cultural realities of Jews in America In an industry strongly influenced by Jewish filmmakers who made and continue to make the decisions as to which films are produced the complex and evolving nature of the American Jewish condition has had considerable impact on American cinema and in particular on how Jews are reflected on the screen This groundbreaking study analyzes select mainstream films from the beginning of the sound era to today to provide an understanding of the American Jewish experience over the last century In the first half of the twentieth century Hollywood s movie moguls most of whom were Jewish shied away from asserting a Jewish image on the screen for fear that they might be too closely identified with that representation Over the next two decades Jewish moviemakers became more comfortable with the concept of a Jewish hero and with an overpowered yet heroic Israel In time the Holocaust assumed center stage as the single event with the greatest effect on American Jewish identity Recently as American Jewish screenwriters directors and producers have become increasingly comfortable with their heritage we are seeing an unprecedented number of movies that spotlight Jewish protagonists experiences and challenges

Reporting Genocide David Patrick, 2017-12-13 The Western world s responses to genocide have been slow unwieldy and sometimes unfit for purpose So argues David Patrick in this essential new contribution to the aid and intervention debate While the UK and US have historically been committed to the ideals of human rights freedom and equality their actual material reactions are more usually dictated by geopolitical noise pre conceived ideas of worth and the media attention spans of individual elected leaders Utilizing a wide ranging quantitative analysis of media reporting across the globe Patrick argues that an over reliance on the Holocaust as the framing device we use to try and come to terms with such horrors can lead to slow responses misinterpretation and category errors in both Rwanda and Bosnia much energy was expended trying to ascertain whether these regions qualified for genocide status The Reporting of Genocide demonstrates how such tragedies are reduced to stereotypes in the media framed in terms of innocent victims and brutal oppressors which can over simplify the situation on the ground This in turn can lead to mixed and inadequate responses from governments Reporting on Genocide also seeks to address how responses to genocides across the globe can be improved and will be essential reading for policy makers and for scholars of genocide and the media

Hollywood and the Holocaust Henry Gonshak, 2015-10-16 The Holocaust has been the focus of countless films in the United States Great Britain and Europe and its treatment over the years has been the subject of considerable controversy When finally permitted to portray the atrocities filmmakers struggled with issues of fidelity to historical fact depictions of graphic violence and how to approach the complexities of the human condition on all sides of this horrific event In Hollywood and the Holocaust Henry Gonshak explores portrayals of the Holocaust from the World War II era to the present In chapters devoted to films ranging from The Great Dictator to Inglourious Basterds this volume looks at how these films have shaped perceptions of the Shoah The author also questions if Hollywood given its commercialism is capable of conveying the Holocaust in ways that do justice to its historical trauma Through a careful consideration of over twenty five films across genres including Life Is Beautiful Cabaret The Reader The Boys from Brazil and Schindler's List this book provides an important look at the social political and cultural contexts in which these movies were produced By also engaging with the critical responses to these films and their role in the public's ongoing fascination with the Holocaust this book suggests that viewers take a closer look at how such films depict this dark period in world history Hollywood and the Holocaust will be of interest to cultural critics historians and anyone interested in the cinema's ability to render these tragic events on screen
