African Theatre and Politics: The evolution of theatre in Ethiopia, Tanzania and Zimbabwe Jane Plastow, 2023-01-30 This study the first book length treatment of its subject draws on a large base of elusive material and on extensive field research It is the result of the author s wide experience of teaching and producing theatre in Africa and of her fascination with the ways in which traditional performance forms have interacted with or have resisted non indigenous modes of dramatic representation in the process of evolving into the vital theatres of the present day A comparative historical study is offered of the three national cultures of Ethiopia Tanganyika Tanzania and Rhodesia Zimbabwe Not only scripted drama is treated but also theatre in the sense of the broader range of performance arts such as dance and song The development of theatre and drama is seen against the background of centuries of cultural evolution and interaction from pre colonial times through phases of African and European imperialism to the liberation struggles and newly won independence of the present The seminal relationship between theatre society and politics is thus a central focus Topics covered include the function in theatre of vernacular and colonial languages performance forms under feudal communalist and socialist regimes cultural militancy and political critique the relationship of theatre to social elites and to the peasant class state control funding and censorship racism and separate development in the performing arts contemporary performance structures amateur professional community and university theatre Due attention is paid to prominent dramatists theatre groups and theatre directors and the author offers new insight into African perceptions of the role of the artist in the theatre as well as dealing with the important subject of gender roles in drama in performance ritual and in theatre practice The book is illustrated with contemporary photographs

The End of an Era? Robert Mugabe and a Conflicting Legacy Mawere

Munyaradzi, Ngonidzashe Marongwe, 2018-09-17 Arguably one of the most polarising figures in modern times has been Robert Gabriel Mugabe the former President of the Republic of Zimbabwe The mere mentioning of his name raises a lot of debate and often times vicious if not irreconcilable differences both in Zimbabwe and beyond In an article titled Lessons of Zimbabwe Mahmood Mamdani succinctly captures the polarity thus It is hard to think of a figure more reviled in the West than Robert Mugabe and his land reform measures however harsh have won him considerable popularity not just in Zimbabwe but throughout southern Africa This together with his recent stylised ouster speaks volumes to his conflicted legacy The divided opinion on Mugabe's legacy can broadly be represented first by those who consider him as a champion of African liberation a Pan Africanist an unmatched revolutionary and an avid anti imperialist who literally spoke the truth to Western imperialists On the other end of the spectrum are those who seemingly paying scant regard to the predicament of millions of black Zimbabweans brutally dispossessed of their land and human dignity since the Rhodesian days have differentially characterised Mugabe as a rabid black fascist an anti white racist an oppressor and a dictator Drawing on all these opinions and characterisations the chapters ensconced in this volume critically reflect on the personality leadership style and contributions of Robert Mugabe during his time in office from 1980 to November 2017 The volume is timely in view of the current contested transition in Zimbabwe and with regard to the ongoing consultations on the Land Question in neighbouring South Africa It is a handy and richly documented text for students and practitioners in political science African studies economics policy studies development studies and global studies

Politics and Performance Elizabeth Gunner, 1994 This volume is a collection of essays that explore aspects of popular culture in South Africa Zimbabwe and Zambia These writings examine such topics as the degree of state control over theatre the interaction or lack of it between high and popular culture the struggle to define meaningful cultural forms in the wake of a dominating and exclusive colonial culture and the contribution of women What emerges is a strong sense of regional concerns shared by the Southern African cultures under discussion the contributors also give voice to crucial differences and debates on the nature of contemporary theatre and performance and the links with popular culture politics and nation

The Columbia Guide to Central African Literature in English Since 1945 Adrian A. Roscoe, 2008 Columbia's guides to postwar African literature paint a unique portrait of the continent's rich and diverse literary traditions This volume examines the rapid rise and growth of modern literature in the three postcolonial nations of Zimbabwe Malawi and Zambia It tracks the multiple political and economic pressures that have shaped Central African writing since the end of World War II and reveals its authors' heroic efforts to keep their literary traditions alive in the face of extreme poverty and AIDS Adrian Roscoe begins with a list of key political events Since writers were composing within both colonial and postcolonial contexts he pays particular attention to the nature of British colonialism especially theories regarding its provenance and motivation Roscoe discusses such historical figures as David Livingstone Cecil Rhodes and Sir Harry Johnston as well as modern power players including Robert Mugabe Kenneth Kaunda and Kamuzu Banda He also addresses efforts to create a literary historical record from an African perspective an account that challenges white historiographies in which the colonized was neither agent nor informer A comprehensive alphabetical guide profiles both established and emerging authors and further illustrates issues raised in the introduction Roscoe then concludes with a detailed bibliography recommending additional reading and sources At the close of World War II the people of Central Africa found themselves mired in imperial fatigue and broken promises of freedom This fueled a desire for liberation and a major surge in literary production and in this illuminating guide Roscoe details the campaigns for social justice and political integrity for education and economic empowerment and for gender equity participatory democracy rural development and environmental care that characterized this exciting period of development
