The Horror Factory The Horror Films Of Universal 1931 To 1955:

The Horror Factory Bruce Dettman, Michael Bedford, 1976 Uncanny Bodies Robert Spadoni, 2007-09-04 Through meticulous historical research Spadoni in Uncanny Bodies provides a fine understanding of the aesthetic and cultural context in which the original Universal film version of Dracula appeared Through analyses of films that came before and after he successfully restores Dracula's strangeness for a contemporary audience a strangeness that reflects the rapidly evolving conventions of the early sound film A significant contribution to reception studies Uncanny Bodies makes us see why Dracula while holding little terror for subsequent audiences is nevertheless both a foundational work for the horror film and also paradoxically an anomaly one effectively overshadowed by Frankenstein William Paul author of Laughing Screaming Modern Hollywood Horror and Comedy Uncanny Bodies is a pleasure to read I know of no other work that has looked as closely at early sound and horror films to make a persuasive argument about horror's relation to the beginnings of sound film Given the voluminous literature on Universal horror films Spadoni presents some very original ideas and frames his inquiry in an interesting way Jan Christopher Horak editor of Lovers of Cinema The First American Film Avant Garde 1919 1945

American Horrors Gregory Albert Waller, 1987 Since the release of Rosemary's Baby in 1968 the American horror film has become one of the most diverse commercially successful widely discussed and culturally significant film genres Drawing on a wide range of critical methods from close textual readings and structuralist genre criticism to psychoanalytical feminist and ideological analyses the authors examine individual films directors and subgenres In this collection of twelve essays Gregory Waller balances detailed studies of both popular films Night of the Living Dead The Exorcist and Halloween and particularly problematic films Don't Look Now and Eyes of Laura Mars with discussions of such central thematic preoccupations as the genre's representation of violence and female victims its reflexivity and playfulness and its ongoing redefinition of the monstrous and the normal In addition American Horrors includes a filmography of movies and telefilms and an annotated bibliography of books and articles about horror since 1968 The Horror Spoofs of Abbott and Costello Jeffrey S. Miller, 2004-03-22 While Bud Abbott and Lou Costello are more famously known for their straight comedy routines they did make a number of films in which horror played a crucial role The first part of this critical reference examines the Abbott and Costello Meet the Monsters spoof films Frankenstein The Invisible Man Dr Jekyll and Mr Hyde and The Mummy The second section deals with Abbott and Costello's films with horror elements that do not follow this formula Hold That Ghost The Time of Their Lives and Abbott and Costello Meet the Killer Boris Karloff The plot of each film is examined in detail with special attention paid to the comedians' styles of comedy the effect of the horror scenes and the place of the film in the Abbott and Costello canon The reactions of critics then and now and the influences the films have had on the horror and comedy genres and on pop culture are also discussed A lengthy introduction provides background on the lives of Bud Abbott and Lou Costello and the development of Universal Studios as the premier horror factory The Films of

Noir Andrew Spicer, 2010-03-19 Film noir literally black cinema is the label customarily given to a group of black and white American films mostly crime thrillers made between 1940 and 1959 Today there is considerable dispute about what are the shared features that classify a noir film and therefore which films should be included in this category These problems are partly caused because film noir is a retrospective label that was not used in the 1940s or 1950s by the film industry as a production category and therefore its existence and features cannot be established through reference to trade documents The Historical Dictionary of Film Noir is a comprehensive guide that ranges from 1940 to present day neo noir It consists of a chronology an introductory essay a bibliography a filmography and over 400 cross referenced dictionary entries on every aspect of film noir and neo noir including key films personnel actors cinematographers composers directors producers set designers and writers themes issues influences visual style cycles of films e g amnesiac noirs the representation of the city and gender other forms comics graphic novels television and videogames and noir's presence in world cinema It is an essential reference work for all those interested in this important cultural phenomenon
