The History Of The Nineteenth Century In Caricature:

The History of the Nineteenth Century in Caricature Frederic Taber Cooper,1904-01-01 The History of the Nineteenth Century in Caricature Arthur Bartlett Maurice,Frederic Taber Cooper,1904 The History of the Nineteenth Century in Caricature Arthur Bartlett 1873-1946 Maurice,2023-07-18 This book is a fascinating look at the 19th century through the lens of political and social caricatures It provides a unique perspective on the major events and figures of the time including wars revolutions and cultural phenomena The book is illustrated with over 100 black and white illustrations making it a visually compelling read for anyone interested in history This work has been selected by scholars as being culturally important and is part of the knowledge base of civilization as we know it This work is in the public domain in the United States of America and possibly other nations Within the United States you may freely copy and distribute this work as no entity individual or corporate has a copyright on the body of the work Scholars believe and we concur that this work is important enough to be preserved reproduced and made generally available to the public We appreciate your support of the preservation process and thank you for being an important part of keeping this knowledge alive and relevant The History of the Nineteenth Century in Caricature Arthur Bartlett Maurice,2012 The History of the Nineteenth Century in Caricature Frederic Taber Cooper Arthur Bartlett Maurice,Frederic Taber Cooper,2016-04-07 of the Napoleonic wars such cartoons were bought up greedily the City vying with the aristocratic West End in their patriotic demand for them But such times were exceptional and the older caricaturists were obliged to let pass many interesting crises because the situations would have become already stale before the day of publication of the monthly magazines came round With the advent of the illustrated weeklies the situation was improved but it is only in recent times that the ideal condition has been reached when the cabled news of yesterday is interpreted in the cartoon of to day Nelson at the Battle of the Nile History of the Nineteenth Century in Caricature Arthur Bartlett Maurice,Frederic Taber Cooper,1971-11 The History of the Nineteenth Century in Caricature Arthur Maurice,Frederic Taber Cooper,2015-11-13 The History of the Nineteenth Century in Caricature By Arthur Bartlett Maurice And Frederic Taber Cooper Profusely Illustrated While the impulse to satirize public men in picture is probably as old as satiric verse if not older the political cartoon as an effective agent in molding public opinion is essentially a product of modern conditions and methods As with the campaign song its success depends upon its timeliness upon the ability to seize upon a critical moment a burning question of the hour and anticipate the outcome while public excitement is still at a white heat But unlike satiric verse it is dependent upon ink and paper It cannot be transmitted orally The doggerel verses of the Roman legions passed from camp to camp with the mysterious swiftness of an epidemic and found their way even into the sober history of Suetonius The topical songs and parodies of the Middle Ages migrated from town to town with the strolling minstrels as readily as did the cycles of heroic poetry But with caricature the case was very different It may be that the man of the Stone Age whom Mr Oppen has lately utilized so cleverly in a series of caricatures was the first to draw rude and distorted likenesses of some unpopular chieftain just as the Roman soldier of 79 A D scratched on the wall of his barracks in Pompeii an unflattering portrait of some martinet centurion which the ashes of Vesuvius have preserved until to day It is certain that the Greeks and Romans appreciated the power of ridicule latent in satiric pictures but until the era of the printing press the caricaturist was as one crying in a wilderness And it is only with the modern co operation of printing and photography that caricature has come into its full inheritance The best and most telling cartoons are those which do not merely reflect current public opinion but guide it In looking back over a century of caricature we are apt to overlook this distinction A cartoon which cleverly illustrates some important historical event and throws light upon the contemporary attitude of the public is equally interesting to day whether it anticipated the event or was published a month afterward But in order to influence public opinion caricature must contain a certain element of prophecy It must suggest a danger or point an interrogation As an example we may compare two famous cartoons by the English artist Gillray A Connoisseur Examining a Cooper and the King of Brobdingnag and Gulliver In the latter George III in the guise of a giant is curiously examining through his magnifying glass a Lilliputian Napoleon There is no element of prophecy about the cartoon It simply reflects the contemptuous attitude of the time toward Napoleon and underestimates the danger
