Thresholds and Boundaries Lynn F. Jacobs, 2017-09-25 Although liminality has been studied by scholars of medieval and seventeenth century art the role of the threshold motif in Netherlandish art of the late fourteenth fifteenth and early sixteenth centuries this late medieval early early modern period has been much less fully investigated Thresholds and Boundaries Liminality in Netherlandish Art 1385 1550 addresses this issue through a focus on key case studies Sluter's portal of the Chartreuse de Champmol and the calendar pages of the Limbourg Brothers' Très Riches Heures and on important formats altarpieces and illuminated manuscripts Lynn F Jacobs examines how the visual thresholds established within Netherlandish paintings sculptures and manuscript illuminations become sites where artists could address relations between life and death aristocrat and peasant holy and profane and man and God and where artists could exploit the betwixt and between nature of the threshold to communicate paradoxically both connections and divisions between these different states and different worlds Building on literary and anthropological interpretations of liminality this book demonstrates how the exploration of boundaries in Netherlandish art infused the works with greater meaning The book's probing of the often ignored meanings of the threshold motif casts new light on key works of Netherlandish art

Drama and Resistance Claire Sponsler, 1997 Provides a cultural and historical context for medieval popular drama In Drama and Resistance Claire Sponsler explores the intertwined histories of bodily subjectivity commodity culture and theatricality in late medieval England In a fascinating consideration of popular drama in the period from 1350 to 1520 she argues that many types of performances during this time represented cultural evasions of the imposition of disciplinary power The medieval theater was a social site where resistance masked from the full scrutiny of authority by theatricality was practiced articulated and enacted Sponsler examines three key discourses of authoritarian bodily and commodity control clothing laws conduct literature and Books of Hours and pairs them with three kinds of theatrical performances that enact resistance to disciplining codes Robin Hood performances morality plays and Corpus Christi pageants She considers the contradictions and inconsistencies in the repressive official discourses and analyzes the ways in which the staging of forbidden acts like cross dressing social and sexual misbehavior and violence against the body challenged these discourses Drawing on recent social theory Drama and Resistance is an important contribution to medieval studies and the history of theater

The Flemish Primitives Musées royaux des beaux-arts de Belgique, Anne Dubois, 1996 The fifth volume examines all the works painted by anonymous masters Most works of the 15th and early 16th centuries are not signed Several of these works have not proved possible to attribute to a known painter or to a master with a provisional name These works labelled as anonymous have been little studied until now because they are in general thought to be of lesser quality and because researchers have prioritised the study of more important masters It is however becoming increasingly apparent that these reflect the ongoing production of the time in the Southern Netherlands Beside the fact that these paintings represent the themes that enjoyed a certain popularity at the time their study opens perspectives onto the socio economic context and workshop practice These paintings could be destined for a broad market and betray different working methods allowing for swift execution in several copies Furthermore two of these anonymous works dating from around 1400 or a little bit later rank amongst the rare representatives of pictorial production in the Southern Netherlands prior to the technical innovations introduced by the Flemish Primitives This production is by convention called pre Eyckian painting
