The Human Front:

Human Front Ken MacLeod, 2013-03-25 Ken MacLeod is one of the brightest and most progressive of Britain's Hard SF stars who navigate exciting new futures to the delight of legions of fans around the world. His works combine cutting edge scientific speculation, socialist and anarchist themes, and a deeply humanistic vision. Described by fans and adversaries alike as a techno-utopian socialist, MacLeod thrusts his characters into uncanny encounters that have included AI singularities, divergent human evolution, and posthuman cyborg resurrection. In his novella The Human Front, a young Scottish guerrilla fighter is drawn into low intensity sectarian war in a high intensity dystopian future, and the arrival of an alien intruder complete with saucer calls for new tactics and strange alliances. Its companion piece Other Deviations, first published in this edition, reveals the complex origins of MacLeod's alternate history. Plus The Future Will Happen Here Too, in which a Hebridean writer celebrates the landscapes that shaped his work, measures Scotland's past against humanity's future, and peers into the eyes of an eel. And featuring our irreverent Outspoken Interview, a candid and often cantankerous conversation that showcases our author's deep erudition and mordant wit.

The Human Semantic Potential Terry Regier, 1996 Drawing on ideas from cognitive linguistics, connectionism, and perception, The Human Semantic Potential describes a connectionist model that learns perceptually grounded semantics for natural language in spatial terms. Languages differ in the ways in which they structure space, and Regier's aim is to have the model perform its learning task for terms from any natural language. The system has so far succeeded in learning spatial terms from English German Russian Japanese and Mixtec The model views simple movies of two dimensional objects moving relative to one another and learns to classify them linguistically in accordance with the spatial system of some natural language The overall goal is to determine which sorts of spatial configurations and events are learnable as the semantics for spatial terms and which are not Ultimately the model and its theoretical underpinnings are a step in the direction of articulating biologically based constraints on the nature of human semantic systems Along the way Regier takes up such substantial issues as the attraction and the liabilities of PDP and structured connectionist modeling the problem of learning without direct negative evidence and the area of linguistic universals which is addressed in the model itself Trained on spatial terms from different languages the model permits observations about the possible bases of linguistic universals and interlanguage variation The Human Body and Its Connexion with Man James John Garth Wilkinson, 1851

News and the Human Interest Story Helen MacGill Hughes, In this account of the growth of newspapers in modern industrial society Helen Hughes traces the development of a mass audience through analysis of the origins of the human interest story in the popular ballads of an earlier day She shows how such commonly found interests as a taste for news of the town ordinary gossip and moving or gripping tales with a legendary or mythic quality have reflected the tastes of ordinary folk from the days of illiterate audiences to the present She explains how these interests ultimately were combined with practical economic and political information to create the substance and demand for a popular press In describing the rise and fall of newspaper empires each with their special readership attractions Dr Hughes shows how technological innovation and idiosyncratic creativity were used by owners to capture and hold a reading audience Once this audience developed it could be fed a variety of messages beamed at reinforcing and maintaining both general and specific publics as well as a view of the world consonant with that of the publisher and major advertisers Hughes offers a persuasive argument for the continuing viability of this method for combined social control instruction and amusement captured by the association of news and the human interest story Holden's Manual of the Dissection of the Human Body Edited by Luther
