A Guide to Composition Pedagogies Gary Tate, Amy Rupiper-Taggart, Kurt Schick, Brooke Hessler, 2014-02 This is a bibliographic guide written for newcomers to the field The book familiarizes writing instructors with the current topography of composition studies and directs them to the best books and articles for further exploration

Contrastive Rhetoric Revisited and Redefined Clayann Gilliam Panetta, 2000-11-01 The theory of contrastive rhetoric was first put forth by Robert Kaplan in the mid 1960s to explain the differences in writing and discourse between students who were native speakers of English and their international counterparts Over the past three decades contrastive rhetoric theory has been used primarily by linguists in language centers and involved in ESL teaching As the number of international students in American universities has continued to grow contrastive rhetoric has become increasingly relevant to all disciplines and to rhetoric and composition in particular This volume breaks important new ground in its examination of contrastive rhetoric in the exclusive context of composition The editor has assembled contributors with varying areas of specialty to demonstrate how the traditional definition of contrastive rhetoric theory can be applied to composition in new and innovative ways and how it can be redefined through the lens of addressing difference issues in writing Thus the volume as a whole clarifies how the basic principles of contrastive rhetoric theory can help composition instructors to understand writing and rhetorical decisions With the inclusion of current research on multicultural issues this collection is appropriate for all instructors in ESL writing including teachers in rhetoric composition and linguistics It can also be used as an advanced text for students in these areas Wherever it is employed it is certain to offer significant new insights into the application of contrastive rhetoric within the composition discipline

Politics, Language, and Culture Joseph W. Check, 2002-10-30 Politics language and culture are three of the most powerful forces affecting education today yet they have been little discussed in relation to systemic school reform the new status quo of urban schools This book looks at their effects through the eyes of teachers administrators and insider outsiders who are actually living reform at the school level in four widely different urban school systems Chicago San Francisco and Oakland California and Boston The book also creates a statistical and conceptual picture of urban education and school reform as national phenomena with deep historical roots and offers a composite case study of an urban elementary school undergoing reform The author argues that urban school reform is failing because its basic strategy is misguided and because reform thinking has consciously ignored three essential sources of knowledge about school change Strategically efforts for reform have relied heavily on the widespread replication of nationally promoted exemplary programs This approach assumes that local schools lack the knowledge and will to solve their own problems and require prescriptive intervention from national models In fact the exemplary programs approach has yielded very limited success What is needed instead is the creation and long term support of unique local exemplary contexts that combine best practice approaches with local knowledge conditions and resources College English Association Critic ,1998
