The Psychology of Love Thiago de Almeida, David L. Rodrigues, 2025-01-16 The topic of loving relationships is one of the most important and often problematic areas of people s lives Unfortunately such importance is best perceived when relationships are unsatisfactory and or threatened by the possibility of an imminent breakup When that happens our mood our ability to concentrate our energy our work and our health among other dimensions of our lives can be profoundly affected Although contemporary love life appears to be markedly different from that of predecessor generations given the wide range of current relationships as the hook up living together separate cohabitation virtual love or even betrayal among many other forms of loving interaction we live in a time when relationships between two or more people it seems need more understanding and more accurate research However studying love scientifically is a hard task because of methodological difficulties and conceptual improprieties intrinsically related to this type of investigation Because it can be considered such a familiar concept many researchers should agree on what love is and how it can be measured But this is not what occurs After all what is love Is it as a psychological phenomenon capable of being scientifically studied by psychology The goal of this Research Topic is to Promote and disseminate publications related to what is conceived scientifically as the Psychology of Love differing from conceptions related to self help and common sense Conceptualize love through psychological science Systematize knowledge about the nature of love and related phenomena such as jealousy shyness inhibition infidelity and other related topics Understand conceptualizations of love and relationship dynamics of people in monogamous and consensually non monogamous relationships Research the establishment and maintenance of romantic relationships and try to understand scientifically the role of love in marital satisfaction Impending Inquisitions in Humanities and Sciences

Facilitating Collaborative Learning Through Digital Content and Learning Technologies Keengwe, Jared, 2022-12-28 Digital content and learning technologies are now the norm at all levels of education However there is evidence to suggest that this digital shift is on a spectrum and the spectrum impacts learners in different ways This means that some instructors who seek to integrate digital content may do so using traditional teaching methods while others use innovative practices to engage learners Those who integrate innovative digital practices align their instructional practice with theories to facilitate student centered pedagogies that support and improve the depth and scope of student learning A primary characteristic of student centered learning is facilitating collaborative learning using digital content and learning technologies to engage students as well as to enhance meaningful learning The Handbook of Research on Facilitating Collaborative Learning Through Digital Content and Learning Technologies provides K 20 educators with alternative pedagogical and andragogical models that are innovative and incorporate digital content and learning technologies that promote constructive learning Further this book explores the relationship between constructivist learning digital content and learning technologies A primary argument in this book is that constructivist teaching strategies such as collaborative learning coupled with digital content and purposeful learning technologies could benefit student learning in ways that are different from those practiced in traditional non digital learning environments Covering topics such as instructional design self efficacy and library engagement this major reference work is an essential resource for pre service teachers teacher educators faculty and administrators of K 20 education librarians researchers and academicians
