Materializing the Bible James S. Bielo, 2021-08-12 What happens when the written words of biblical scripture are transformed into experiential choreographed environments To answer this question anthropologist James Bielo explores a diverse range of practices and places that materialize the Bible including gardens theme parks shrines museums memorials exhibitions theatrical productions and other forms of replication Integrating ethnographic archival and mass media data case studies focus primarily on U S Christianity from the late 19th century to the present Composed as 20 short chapters that may be read in any order the book is divided into three sections Section I Variations on Replication analyzes examples that recontextualize elements from the actual or imagined biblical past Section II The Power of Nature turns to the natural world associated with Christian scripture and how it is mobilized as a privileged media Section III Choreographing Experience examines lived interactions with the affordances of materializing the Bible Bielo argues that materializing the Bible works as an authorizing practice to intensify intimacies with scripture and circulate potent ideologies Performed through the sensory experience of bodies physical technologies and infrastructures of place Bielo illustrates how this phenomenon is always ultimately about expressions of power God and Gadgets Brad J. Kallenberg, 2011-01-01 Technologies are deeply embedded in the modern West What would our lives be like without asphalt glass gasoline electricity window screens or indoor plumbing We naturally praise technology when it is useful and bemoan it when it is not But there is much more to technology than the usefulness of this or that artifact Unfortunately we tend not to consider the inherently social and moral character of technology As a result we are prone to overlook the effects of technology on our spiritual lives This book investigates the role technology plays in helping and hampering our Christian practice and witness Bible Review, 2002

In 2012 Steve Green billionaire and president of the Hobby Lobby chain of craft stores announced a recent purchase of a Biblical artefact a fragment of papyrus just discovered carrying lines from Paul's letter to the Romans and dated to the second century CE. Noted scholar Roberta Mazza was stunned. When was this piece discovered and how could Green acquire such a rare item? The answers which Mazza spent the next ten years uncovering came as a shock: the fragment had come from a famous collection held at Oxford University and its rightful owners had no idea it had been sold. The letter to the Romans was not the only extraordinary piece in the Green collection. They soon announced newly recovered fragments from the Gospels and writings of Sappho. Mazza's quest to confirm the provenance of these priceless fragments revealed shadowy global networks that make big business of ancient manuscripts from the Greens Museum of the Bible and world famous auction houses like Sotheby's and Christie's to antique shops in Jerusalem and Istanbul, dealers on eBay and into the collections of renowned museums and universities. Mazza's investigation forces us to ask what happens when the supposed custodians of our ancient heritage act in ways that threaten to destroy it. Stolen Fragments illuminates how these recent dealings are not isolated events but the inevitable result of longstanding colonial practices and the outcome of generations of scholars who have profited from extracting the cultural heritage of places they claim they wish to preserve. Where is the boundary between protection and exploitation between scholarship and larceny? American Book Publishing Record, 2003

Forgiveness is one of the best tools we have at our disposal to create a better life for ourselves. Leave that baggage behind as you put the past in the past where it belongs. Forgiveness is an amazing tool; it can transform your life in just one second if you decide that you want to use its power. There's a reason we refer to anger, resentment and disappointment as baggage. We carry it everywhere we go. We'd like nothing more than to drop it on the side of the road and forget about it. But how do we do that? How do we process the past and then leave it behind? These 101 revealing true stories show you how. Learn how to manage your hurt with or without an apology and focus on what's really important. Read about marriages being strengthened, families getting back together, grown children coming to understand their parents and people overcoming the worst transgressions, even crimes. These men and women walked forward, light and free, and you can too, onto the bright, warm, welcoming road ahead. And because no one's perfect, you'll also learn how to apologize if you're the one in the wrong and how to use the power of self-forgiveness to find peace and happiness.
