Death and Religion in a Changing World is a comprehensive and accessible study of the intersection of death and religion examining how everyday people enact religious responses to death in the twenty first century With contributions from leading religious studies scholars this book moves away from the field's focus on traditional beliefs to explore how religious traditions evolve in relation to their changing social contexts. Employing an ethnographic approach, Death and Religion in a Changing World further details how people from a wide variety of religious traditions and people without religious affiliation draw on and adapt religious practices as they respond to death in modern societies. Every chapter in this second edition has been thoroughly updated and new chapters on the ethical issues of dying including life prolonging medical treatments, palliative care, physician assisted suicide and euthanasia and the modern hospice movement have been added. This book also covers emerging social and religious phenomena such as public shrines, the Covid 19 pandemic, funeral celebrants, death with dignity, spiritual bereavement groups and online funeral practices. This cutting edge work is essential reading for students and scholars of religion who are approaching the subjects of death and religion and ritual studies.

Turning Points in Religious Studies Ursula King, 2016-10-06 Religious Studies was first introduced as a new discipline in universities and colleges around the world in the 1960s. This discipline brought about a reorientation of the study of religion, created new perspectives and influenced all sectors of education. The essays presented in this volume provide a clear and comprehensive overview of the history of Religious Studies as an academic discipline, the turning points it faces and the directions it might take in the future. The work is organised in three sections. The first presents a succinct case study of the historical development of Religious Studies in Britain. The second considers the development of Religious Studies throughout the world in its major constituents including Hinduism, Buddhism, Sikhism, traditional African religions, Christianity, Islam and new religious movements in Africa, the study of truth and dialogue in religion, science and the rediscovery of religious experience, mysticism. The third section looks to developments in Religious Studies in particular at religion in relation to the arts, gender, information technology and to Religious Studies in a global perspective.
