Studies in Islamic and Judaic Traditions, 1986 Studies in Islamic and Judaic Traditions William M. Brinner, Stephen David Ricks, 1986 Studies in the Origins of Early Islamic Culture and Tradition Michael Cook, 2022-04-19 In contrast to the gradual formation of the high cultures of most of the world the process by which Islamic civilisation emerged and took on its classical form between the 7th and 9th centuries was unusually sudden The studies collected here are concerned with aspects of this remarkable development Their topics are varied including the emergence of dialectical theology the origins of accounts of Pharaonic history current in medieval Egypt the sources of Muslim dietary law the Islamic background of Karaism and Max Weber's views on Islamic sects Other articles look at early Syrian eschatology and its connections with late antiquity and Byzantium at the relevance of eschatology to debates about the dating of traditions and at the attitudes of the early traditionists to the writing down of tradition The final items examine reports about the textual affiliations of a long lost Koranic codex and discussions of adultery among the baboons of Yemen A recurring theme is the relationship between Early Muslim ideas and those of non Muslim cultures sometimes very ancient ones 'Arā'is Al-Majālis Fī Qisas Al-Anbiyā' or "Lives of the Prophets" William M. Brinner, 2002-11-01 These 11th century tales written in many different languages and well known throughout the Muslim world have been read and studied through the years This is however the first complete translation of the Arabic text into English from the story of the creation of the world to the time just before the coming of the Prophet Muhammad and the revelation of Islam It includes tales of prophets who are Biblical figures but also of others not considered prophets in other traditions and contains tales too like The Thousand and One Nights with no prophetic content In the Islamic world this work has been and is still read and enjoyed both as a source of religious study and for simple pleasure Studies in Islamic and Judaic Traditions William M. Lieberman, 2021-09-02 Volume 5 examines the history of Judaism in the Islamic World from the rise of Islam in the early sixth century to the expulsion of Jews from Spain at the end of the fifteenth This period witnessed radical transformations both within the Jewish community itself and in the broader contexts in which the Jews found themselves The rise of Islam had a decisive influence on Jews and Judaism as the conditions of daily life and elite culture shifted throughout the Islamicate world Islamic conquest and expansion affected the shape of the Jewish community as the center of gravity shifted west to the North African communities and long distance trading opportunities led to the establishment of trading diasporas and flourishing communities as far east as India By the end of our period many of the communities on the other side of the Mediterranean had come into their own while many of the Jewish communities in the Islamic world had retreated from their high water mark Judaism and Islam: Boundaries, Communication and Interaction Benjamin Hary, John Hayes, Fred Astren, 2021-08-04 Several years ago an international conference was held at the University of California to honor Professor William Brinner whose personal scholarship throughout the years has focused on both the Jewish and Muslim historical cultural and intellectual experiences This volume which consists of the works of many of the conference participants is a collection of essays that deal with the interaction of Judaism and Islam over history from different perspectives The book is divided into nine parts introduction overview Jewish Muslim interaction in medieval times Jewish Muslim interaction in modern times Bible and Qur n law philosophy and ethics sectarian communities and language linguistics and literature As a resolution the Arab Israeli conflict slowly edges forward we believe that this publication will serve the purposes of both serious scholarship and better cultural understanding Karaite Judaism and Historical Understanding Fred Astren, 2004 Examines the changing relationship of this Jewish sect to rabbinic Judaism and the influence of Muslim and Christian environments Notions of history and the past contained in literature of the Karaite Jewish sect offer insight into the relationship of Karaism to mainstream rabbinic Judaism and to Islam and Christianity Karaite Judaism and Historical Understanding describes how a minority sectarian religious community constructs and uses historical ideology It investigates the proportioning of historical ideology to law and doctrine and the influence of historical setting on religious writings about the past In the present volume Fred Astren discusses modes of representing the past especially in Jewish culture and then poses questions about the past in sectarian particularly Judaic sectarian contexts He contrasts early Karaite scripturalism with the literature of rabbinic Judaism which embodying historical views that carry a moralistic burden draws upon the chain of tradition to suppose a generation to generation transmission of divine knowledge and authority Karaites in the medieval Islamic world eschewed historical thinking in concert with their rejection of the rabbinic concept of tradition One important medieval Karaite al Qirqisani however constructed a sophisticated historical argument as part of his philosophical exposition of Karaism demonstrating theological and philosophical strategies common in Islam and Christianity The center of Karaism shifted to the Byzantine Turkish world during the twelfth through sixteenth centuries when a new historical outlook unoblivious of the past accommodated legal developments influenced by rabbinic thought Reconstructing Karaite historical expression from both published works and previously unexamined manuscripts Astren shows that Karaites relied on rabbinic literature to extract and compile historical data for their own readings of Jewish history which they recorded in an encyclopedic literature similar to contemporary Byzantine Christian Orthodox writing Astren documents how as the Karaites moved toward a concept of tradition and echoed rabbinic historical formulations they developed a version of the chain of tradition to link archaic biblical history to their own community During the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries

Karaite scholars in Poland and Lithuania collated and harmonized historical materials inherited from their Middle Eastern predecessors Astren portrays the way that Karaites with some influence from Jewish Renaissance historiography and impelled by features of Protestant Catholic discourse prepared complete literary historical works that maintained their Jewishness while offering a Karaite reading of Jewish history

Judaism, Sufism, and the Pietists of Medieval Egypt Elisha Russ-Fishbane, 2015

Judaism Sufism and the Pietists of Medieval Egypt addresses the extraordinary rise and inner life of the Egyptian pietist movement in the first half of the thirteenth century The creative engagement with the dominant Islamic culture was always present even when unspoken Elisha Russ Fishbane calls attention to the Sufi subtext of Jewish pietism while striving not to reduce its spiritual synthesis and religious renewal to a set of political calculations Ultimately no single term or concept can fully address the creative expression of pietism that so animated Jewish society and that left its mark in numerous manuscripts and fragments from medieval Egypt Russ Fishbane offers a nuanced examination of the pietist sources on their own terms drawing as far as possible upon their own definitions and perceptions Jewish society in thirteenth century Egypt reflects the dynamic reexamination by a venerable community of its foundational texts and traditions even of its very identity and institutions viewed and reviewed in the full light of its Islamic environment The historical legacy of this religious synthesis belongs at once to the realm of Jewish culture in all its diversity and dynamism as well as to the broader spiritual orbit of Islamic civilization
