Proceedings of the Annual Meeting of the Association for the Anthropological Study of Play Association for the Anthropological Study of Play. Meeting, 1981

The Ludic Self in Seventeenth-Century English Literature Anna K. Nardo, 1991-09-03 This book argues that play offered Hamlet John Donne George Herbert Andrew Marvell Robert Burton and Sir Thomas Browne a way to live within the contradictions and conflicts of late Renaissance life by providing a new stance for the self Grounding its argument in recent theories of play and in a historical analysis that sees the seventeenth century as a point of crisis in the formation of the western self the author demonstrates how play helped mediate this crisis and how central texts of the period enact this mediation

Transactions at Play Cindy Dell Clark, 2009-05-16 When players play there is a transactional process at work whether for children on a teeter totter or pandas playing with peers In this edited volume nine experts on play show how play transactions are an important dynamic of play across cultures age groups even species A rich array of play contexts is evident across the nine chapters encompassing varied continents age groups and sorts of players The play processes of giant pandas of home visiting therapists of Polynesian women and of autistic kids are included here The healthy interchange of ideas about play one of the hallmarks of the Association for the Study of Play is a process that is cultivated in this new volume

The Play Ethic Pat Kane, 2011-08-19 Fizzes with intellectual curiosity Kane writes engagingly and with a humility difficult to find among idea entrepreneurs James Harkin Independent We all think we know what play is Play is what we do as children what we do outside of work what we do for no other reason than for pleasure But this is only half of the truth The Play Ethic explores the real meaning of play and shows how a more playful society would revolutionize and liberate our daily lives Using wide and varied sources from the Enlightenment to Eminem Socrates to Chaos theory Kierkegaard to Karaoke The Play Ethic shows how play is fundamental to both society and to the individual and how the work ethic that has dominated the last three centuries is ill equipped to deal with the modern world With verve wit and intelligence Pat Kane takes us on a tour of the playful world arguing that without it business the arts politics education even our family and spiritual lives are fundamentally impoverished The Play Ethic seeks to change the way you look at your daily life how you interact with others how you view the world It is a guidebook to new exciting and unsettling times Shocking controversial yet magnificently argued The Play Ethic is a book no one who works or has ever worked can afford to be without Kane's Manifesto for a Different Way of Living is a brave attempt to inject a little playfulness into the dull grind of the working stiff

Iain Finlayson The Times

Young Children's Dyadic Pretend Play Ursula Verena Schwartz, 1991 Pretend play in early childhood arises in the context of social interaction and as such constitutes a form of discourse indigenous to the child's world The present study is a first detailed investigation of thematic ideational structure in young children's dyadic pretend play with special emphasis on major generative strategies involved in the realization of coherent play action sequences Play was conceptualized as a story in a dramatic mode where two actors jointly generate or attempt to generate ideationally coherent action sequences or play plots resulting in a complex ever evolving thematic structure at a number of levels of analysis Methodological problems of analysis resulted in the creation of an analytic procedure Master Text that simultaneously addresses structural and processual features of play and is able to deal with lengthy play segments The results characterize playing as a form of discourse which proceeds according to patterned regularities at the level of Thematic Core Structures and associated schemata which underly the plot surface The realization of such structurizations comes about during the play process in a complex interplay with features of the setting and requires establishing and modifying a shared knowledge base These findings are discussed in light of their significance for childhood socialization
