Evans, Andrew W. Pitts, 2016-11-28 In The Language and Literature of the New Testament a team of international scholars assembles to honour the academic career of New Testament scholar Stanley E Porter Over the years Porter has distinguished himself in a wide range of sub disciplines within New Testament Studies The contents of this book represent these diverse scholarly interests ranging from canon and textual criticism to linguistics other interpretive methodologies Jesus and the Gospels and Pauline studies The Gospel of Matthew and the Sayings Source Q Frans Neirynck, Joseph Verheyden, R. Corstjens, 1998 The present Bibliography covers the research on the Gospel of Matthew and on the Gospel Source Q from 1950 to 1995 The new volume has adopted the model of the previously published The Gospel of Mark A Cumulative Bibliography 1950 1990 It contains about 15 000 entries and is arranged alphabetically by name of author the author's works are given in chronological order Each entry includes the complete bibliographical references information about reprints new editions and translations and summary indications of the content Gospel passage subject The companion volume furnishes detailed Indexes of Gospel Passages and Subject matters related to Mt and to Q All indexes are prepared by J Verheyden The Bibliography completes the series of Leuven repertories on the Gospels published in BETL 82 John 1988 88 Luke 1989 and 102 Mark 1992 Paul's Interlocutor in Romans 2 Runar Thorsteinsson, 2015-12-22

Thorsteinsson's study of Romans poses a thoroughly argued challenge to Pauline scholarship His argument has the potential of invalidating the reading of Romans 2 that has contributed to a perception of Paul as utterly negative towards his fellow Jews and first century Judaism Among matters of scholarly dispute is the function and identity of Paul's interlocutors in chapter 2 of Romans Scholars agree universally that the individual addressed in 2:17-29 is a Jew but with respect to the identity of the interlocutor of 2:1-5 there is no consensus The majority of scholars hold that the interlocutor is a Jew throughout the chapter A weighty minority argues that the individual addressed in 2:1-5 is a Gentile and that there is a shift of interlocutor in 2:17 In his investigation into the pros and cons of these positions Thorsteinsson endeavors to challenge both majority and minority Basic to his approach is to allow the larger context and framework of the letter to be of help in assessing the function and identity of Paul's partner's in dialogue Thus the epistolary structure and setting of Romans the relationship between Paul and his audience the identity of the audience and the dialogical style of the letter are used to ascertain the function and identity of Paul's interlocutors in Romans 2 By engaging an imaginary interlocutor Paul utilizes a well established epistolary technique in Greco Roman antiquity Thorsteinsson concludes that Paul wrote Romans to a particular group of people in a specific contemporaneous situation The letter's message arose out of Paul's missionary obligation to proclaim God's good news to Gentiles in Rome The minority view that Paul's interlocutor in 2:1-5 is a Gentile is combined with the majority opinion that there is but one interlocutor throughout the chapter In sum the common opinion that Romans 2 contains Paul's piercing critique of his fellow Jew should be rejected The individual censured in the chapter is not a Jew but a Gentile who claims to be a Jew Themelios, Volume 45, Issue 1 D. The Eusebian Canon Tables Matthew R. Crawford, 2019-05-06 One of the books most central to late antique religious life was the four gospel codex containing the Gospels of Matthew Mark Luke and John A common feature in such manuscripts was a marginal cross referencing system known as the Canon Tables This reading aid was invented in the early fourth century by Eusebius of Caesarea and represented a milestone achievement both in the history of the book and in the scholarly study of the fourfold gospel In this work Matthew R Crawford provides the first book length treatment of the origins and use of the Canon Tables apparatus in any language Part one begins by defining the Canon Tables as a paratextual device that orders the textual content of the fourfold gospel It then considers the relation of the system to the prior work of Ammonius of Alexandria and the hermeneutical implications of reading a four gospel codex equipped with the marginal apparatus Part two transitions to the reception of the paratext in subsequent centuries by highlighting four case studies from different cultural and theological traditions from Augustine of Hippo who used the Canon Tables to develop the first ever theory of gospel composition to a Syriac translator in the fifth century to later monastic scholars in Ireland between the seventh and ninth centuries Finally from the eighth century onwards Armenian commentators used the artistic adornment of the Canon Tables as a basis for contemplative meditation These four case studies represent four different modes of using the Canon Tables as a paratext and illustrate the potential inherent in the Eusebian apparatus for engaging with the fourfold gospel in a variety of ways from the philological to the theological to the visual

Pillars in the History of Biblical Interpretation, Volume 3 Stanley

E. Porter, Zachary K. Dawson, 2021-06-07 This third volume like its predecessors adds to the growing body of literature concerned with the history of biblical interpretation With eighteen essays on nineteen biblical interpreters volume 3 expands the scope of scholars both traditional and modern covered in this now multivolume series Each chapter provides a biographical sketch of its respective scholar s an overview of their major contributions to the field explanations of their theoretical and methodological approaches to interpretation and evaluations and applications of their methods By focusing on the contexts in which these scholars lived and worked these essays show what defining features qualify these scholars as pillars in the history of biblical interpretation While identifying a scholar as a pillar is somewhat subjective this volume defines a pillar as one who has made a distinctive contribution by using and exemplifying a clear method that has pushed the discipline forward at least within a given context and time period This volume is ideal for any class on the history of biblical interpretation and for those who want a greater understanding of how the field of biblical studies has developed and how certain interpreters have played a formative role in that development

The Authentic Paul Gregory Fewster, 2025-04-01 Written in the first century and compiled in the New Testament the letters of the Apostle Paul have served as a reservoir of divine authority for Christians Yet from the time of their writing experts have claimed that some letters were altered or forged Even after centuries and generations of critical scholarship an authentic book of Paul s letters lacks consensus The Authentic Paul traces the efforts of scholars from antiquity to the modern period who endeavoured to make an authoritative book of Paul s letters free from textual variation and forgery Engaging recent trends in the study of religion and book history it challenges one of philologists fundamental assumptions that authenticity is an inherent property of literature that can be recovered or destroyed Gregory Fewster draws the philology of Paul in both its ancient and modern forms into the wider world of critical philology and its dynamic traditions of practice Through analyses of ancient papyri and literary texts early print journals and critical editions he shows how the value of authenticity is entangled with the ways that scholars assess Paul s legitimacy and their own amid dense literary landscapes and intellectual debates The Authentic Paul illustrates in vibrant detail what it means in a world full of texts to make the letters of Paul authentic and why practices of authentication are always culturally determined
