Beville, 2014-11-26 This is a comprehensive study of euthanasia and assisted suicide It traces the historical debate examines the legal status of such activity in different countries and explores the political medical and moral matters surrounding these emotive and controversial subjects in various cultural contexts The key advocates and pioneers of this agenda driven movement such as the late Jack Kevorkian popularly known as Dr Death and Philip Nitschke founder of Exit International are profiled Not only are the elderly and disabled becoming increasingly vulnerable but children psychiatric patients the depressed and those who are simply tired of life are now on a slippery slope into a dystopian nightmare The spotlight is brought to bear on the Netherlands in particular where palliative care and the hospice movement are greatly underdeveloped as a result of legalization These dubious services are now offered as part of normal medical care in Holland where it is deemed more cost effective to be given a lethal injection The vital role of physicians as healers in society must be preserved and the important but neglected spiritual dimension of death must be explored Thus a biblical view of human life is presented Death and bereavement are universal phenomena and people of all faiths and those of none have a legitimate right to comment However the historic Christian tradition is struggling to be heard in the clamor for personal autonomy and civil liberties in a multi cultural society that is becoming increasingly secular This work provides an ethical framework in which euthanasia and assisted suicide can be evaluated These issues are on the radar indicating a collision course with Christian values It is time for Christians to be alert and to present the case that these are not satisfactory solutions to legitimate end of life concerns Routledge A Level Religious Studies Jon Mayled,Jill Oliphant,Sam Pillay,Matthew Taylor,2017-09-28

Library of Congress Subject Headings Library of Congress, 2010 Moral Passion and Christian Ethics Robin Gill, 2017-03-06 In this book Robin Gill argues that moral passion and rational ethical deliberation are not enemies and that moral passion often lurks behind many apparently rational ethical commitments He also contends that though moral passion is a key component of truly selfless moral action without rational ethical deliberation it can also be extremely dangerous Gill maintains that a reanalysis of moral passion is overdue He inspects the gap between the purely rational accounts of ethics provided by some moral philosophers and the normative positions that they espouse and or the moral actions that they pursue He also contends that Christian ethicists have not been adept at identifying their own implicit moral passion or at explaining why it is that doctrinal positions generate passionately held moral conclusions Using a range of disciplines including cognitive science and moral psychology alongside the more usual disciplines of moral philosophy and religious ethics Gill also makes links with moral passion in other world faith traditions Indian Ethics: Classical traditions and contemporary challenges Purusottama Bilimoria, Joseph Prabhu, Renuka M. Lying and Christian Ethics

Christopher O. Tollefsen, 2014-04-28 This book defends the controversial absolute view of lying which maintains that an assertion contrary to the speaker's mind is always wrong regardless of the speaker's intentions Whereas most people believe that a lie told for a good cause such as protecting Jews from discovery by Nazis is morally acceptable Christopher Tollefsen argues that Christians should support the absolute view He looks back to the writings of Augustine and Aquinas to illustrate that lying violates the basic human goods of integrity and sociality and severely compromises the values of religion and truth He critiques the comparatively permissive views espoused by Cassian Bonhoeffer and Niebuhr and argues that lies often jeopardize the good causes for which they are told Beyond framing a moral absolute against lying this book explores the questions of to whom we owe the truth and when and what steps we may take when we should not give it
