Coetzee Tim Mehigan, 2014-02 New essays providing critical views of Coetzee's major works for the scholar and the general reader J M Coetzee is perhaps the most critically acclaimed bestselling author of imaginative fiction writing in English today He received the Nobel Prize for Literature in 2003 and is the first writer to have been awarded two Booker Prizes The present volume makes critical views of this important writer accessible to the general reader as well as the scholar discussing Coetzee's main works in chronological order and introducing the dominant themes in the academic discussion of his oeuvre The volume highlights Coetzee's exceptionally nuanced approach to writing as both an exacting craft and a challenging moral ethical undertaking It discusses Coetzee's complex relation to apartheid and post apartheid South Africa the land of his birth and evaluates his complicated responses to the literary canon Coetzee emerges as both a modernist and a highly self aware postmodernist a champion of the truths of aliterary enterprise conducted unrelentingly in the mode of self confession Contributors Chris Ackerley Derek Attridge Carrol Clarkson Simone Drichel Johan Geertsema David James Michelle Kelly Sue Kossew Mike Marais James Meffan Tim Mehigan Chris Prentice Engelhard Weigl Kim L Worthington Tim Mehigan is Professor of Languages in the Department of Languages and Cultures at the University of Otago New Zealand and Honorary Professor in the Department of Languages and Comparative Cultural Studies at the University of Queensland Australia

European Memories of the Second World War Helmut Peitsch, Charles Burdett, Claire Gorrara, 2006-03-01 During the fifty years since the end of hostilities European literary memories of the war have undergone considerable change influenced by the personal experiences of writers as well as changing political social and cultural factors This volume examines changing ways of remembering the war in the literatures of France Germany and Italy changes in the subject of memory and in the relations between fiction autobiography and documentary with the focus being on the extent to which shared European memories of the war have been constructed      Anthropology and the German Enlightenment Katherine M. Faull, 1995 What was the role of anthropology in the German Enlightenment Why did this discipline emerge as one of the most popular modes of inquiry in the eighteenth century permeating fields as disparate as aesthetics medicine and law As the essays in this volume show the body of Enlightenment knowledge was by no means universal During the German Enlightenment the study of nature humanity and everything that humanity created was the topic of the day But the period that defined moral reason as the sovereign human faculty also applied its scrutiny to the body that such a mind inhabited What did it look like Could moral superiority be deduced from physiognomy In the massive effort to educate the German populace on what were seen to be the fundamental a priori differences physical and moral between the sexes and the races the European bourgeois man was considered to embody all human virtues and talents and stem from the only race and sex capable of ruling itself democratically and rationally To examine the role of anthropology in this enterprise contributors to this volume were asked to investigate what constitutes the German Enlightenment's interaction between its self-proclaimed rationalism and the pervasive presence of the non-rational that is the corporeal. German-Language Nature Writing from Eighteenth Century to the Present Gabriele Dürbeck, Christine Kanz, 2024-05-11

This volume examines the topic of German language nature writing in a broad historical context spanning more than two centuries. It brings together contributions on the debates of the category Nature Writing by numerous renowned international scholars. It discusses literary texts of natural history, nature exploration, nature poetry, perception and reflection by German-speaking authors since the 18th century, including texts by Ulrike Draesner and on Esther Kinsky's writing. The book asks whether the here-discussed texts can, should, or may also be labeled as Nature Writing and how this new perspective on German literary history might change traditional classifications such as Naturlyrik, nature poetry in German literary history.

The Jews of Vienna, 1867-1914 Marsha L. Rozenblit, 2012-02-01 Ablaze with excitement, effervescent with creativity, late nineteenth-century Vienna was the ideal site for this analysis of the ways in which a sizable and significant group of Jews was assimilated into European society. After leaving homes in the Austrian and Hungarian provinces and migrating to the Austrian capital, the Jews underwent a variety of profound changes. The Jews of Vienna shows how they successfully transformed old, identifiably Jewish patterns of behavior into modern urban variations without abandoning their ethnic identity in the process. Marsha L. Rozenblit describes the Jews' migration to Vienna, the occupational changes they experienced in the city, where and how they lived, the various means they used to achieve social integration, and the vibrant network of Jewish organizations they established. As they evolved new patterns of urban Jewish life, the Viennese immigrants also created ideologies which defined the place of the Jew in European society. Rozenblit shows how this urbanization led to social change while simultaneously providing the necessary demographic foundation for continued Jewish identity in modern Europe.

The Literature of German Romanticism Dennis F. Mahoney, 2004 Sharply focused essays on the most significant aspects of German Romanticism. This volume of sharply focused essays by an international team of scholars deals not only with the most significant literary, philosophical, and cultural aspects of German Romanticism, one of the most influential albeit highly controversial movements in the history of German literature, but also with the history and status of scholarship on the literature of the period. The introduction and first section establish an overall framework by placing German Romanticism within a European context that includes its English counterpart. Goethe and Schiller are considered as are the Jena Romantics. The second section is organized according to the traditional distinctions between epic, dramatic, and lyric modes of writing, while realizing that particularly in the Romantic novel there was an attempt to blend these three. A final group of essays focuses on German literary Romanticism's relation to other aspects of German culture, folklore, studies politics psychology natural science gender presentation and representation music and visual art Contributors Gerhard Schulz Arnd Bohm Richard Littlejohns Gerhart Hoffmeister Ulrich Scheck Claudia Stockinger Bernadette Malinowski Fabian Lampart Klaus Peter Gabriele Rommel Martha B Helfer Kristina Muxfeldt Beate Allert Paul Bishop and R H Stephenson Nicholas Saul Dennis F Mahoney is Professor of German and Director of the European Studies Program at the University of Vermont

Author and Narrator Dorothee Birke, Tilmann Köppe, 2015-03-10 The distinction between author and narrator is one of the cornerstones of narrative theory In the past two decades however scope implications and consequences of this distinction have become the subjects of debate This volume offers contributions to these debates from different vantage points literary studies linguistics philosophy and media studies It thus manifests the status of narrative theory as a transdisciplinary project

Adventures Abroad Sandra L. Singer, 2003-04-30 In the period between the Civil War and World War I German universities provided North American women with opportunities in graduate and professional training that were not readily available to them at home This training allowed women to compete to a greater degree with men in increasingly professionalized fields In return for such opportunities these women played a key role in opening up German universities to all women Many devoted the rest of their lives to creating better research and graduate opportunities for other women forever changing the course of higher education in North America This study provides accounts of the incredible barriers encountered by these first women students in Europe It documents their perseverance and hard won triumphs and includes as well the stories of the progressive men who mentored them and fought for their rights to higher education Never before has documentation of so many North American students at German speaking universities been included in one volume This collection of stories from women across disciplines makes it possible to assess the truly remarkable nature of their combined contributions to higher education and research in North America and Europe

The Epistolary Renaissance Maria Löschnigg, Rebekka Schuh, 2018-09-10 Since the late twentieth century letters in literature have seen a remarkable renaissance The prominence of letters in recent fiction is due in part to the rediscovery by contemporary writers of letters as an effective tool for rendering aspects of historicity liminality marginalization and the expression of subjectivity vis vis an other it is also due however to the artistically challenging inclusion of the new electronic media of communication into fiction While studies of epistolary fiction have so far concentrated on the eighteenth century and on thematic concerns this volume charts the epistolary renaissance in recent literature entering new territory by also focusing on the aesthetic implications of the epistolary mode In particular the essays in this volume illuminate the potential of the epistolary including digital forms for rendering contemporary sensitivities The volume thus offers a comprehensive assessment of letter narratives in contemporary literature Through its focus on the aesthetic and structural aspects of new epistolary fiction the inclusion of various narrative forms and the consideration of both conventional letters and their new digital kindred The Epistolary Renaissance offers novel insight into a multi faceted re new ed genre      University of
