Studies In Roman And Early Christian Architecture:

Studies in Roman and Early Christian Architecture John Bryan Ward-Perkins, 1994 The work of J B Ward Perkins on Roman architecture spanned fifty years and his numerous published papers covered almost every aspect of the subject This selection of sixteen studies focuses mainly on the provinces particularly the North African cities There are two articles on Roman town planning followed by a study of Nero's Golden House at Rome The following nine papers deal with architecture in the provinces The author's interest in the excavations under St Peter's in Rome resulted in the publication of a number of studies on the development of Early Christian architecture from such Roman models as the basilica and the Imperial mausolea Five of these papers are included here in the final section on Early Christian architecture There is a Preface by Professor Roger Ling and a comprehensive index Roman Architecture, 1980 Christian Responses to Roman Art and Architecture Laura Salah Nasrallah, 2010-01-25 Laura Nasrallah argues that early Christian literature is best understood when read alongside the archaeological remains of Roman antiquity Art and Architecture of the Synagogue in Late Antique Palestine David William Milson, 2006-12-31 This study examines the material evidence for synagogues and churches in the Holy Land from the age of Constantine in the fourth century CE to the Arab conquest of the eastern provinces in the seventh century CE Whereas scholars once viewed the growth of the Byzantine empire as time of persecution a re-evaluation of the archaeological evidence indicates that Jews prospered along with their Christian neighbours What influence did Christian art and architecture have on ancient synagogues In the sixth century one third of all known synagogues in Palestine bear features similar to early Byzantine churches basilical layouts mosaic floors apses and chancel screens Focusing on these features sheds light on how Jewish communities met the challenges posed by the Church's development into a major religious and political power This book provides a critical analysis of the archaeological evidence as a basis for our better understanding of Jewish identity and community in late Antique Palestine Religious Diversity in Late Antiquity David Morton Gwynn, Susanne Bangert, 2010 This volume in the ongoing Late Antique Archaeology series draws on material and textual evidence to explore the diverse religious world of Late Antiquity Subjects include Jews and Samaritans orthodoxy and heresy pilgrimage stylites magic the sacred and the secular Studies in Hellenistic Architecture Frederick E. Winter, Janos Fedak, 2006-01-01 Studies in Hellenistic Architecture is a detailed analysis of the development of the major building types of the Hellenistic age the mid fourth century B C to the time of the Roman conquest of the Eastern Mediterranean In this meticulous work Frederick E Winter reveals how the architects of the period went beyond anything achieved by their Classical Greek predecessors and how these impressive skills prepared the way for many of Rome's later architectural achievements Geographically the monuments included in this volume extend from Spain to Afghanistan and from Provence to North Africa Winter discusses the architectural achievements of the various regional styles of the Eastern Mediterranean and takes a detailed look at Hellenistic developments west of the Adriatic While the interrelationship of these regional developments is often unclear especially in cases where there are no explicit criteria for dating Winter makes excellent use of the advance in scholarship over the past fifty to sixty years offering the first real attempt at a synthesis of this vast subject Studies in Hellenistic Architecture is an invaluable resource containing a wealth of illustrations of the various types of Hellenistic building and the most comprehensive scholarship to date on the topic

The Art of the Roman Empire Jas Elsner, 2018-05-02 The passage from Imperial Rome to the era of late antiquity when the Roman Empire underwent a religious conversion to Christianity saw some of the most significant and innovative developments in Western culture This stimulating book investigates the role of the visual arts the great diversity of paintings statues luxury arts and masonry as both reflections and agents of those changes Jas Elsner's ground breaking account discusses both Roman and early Christian art in relation to such issues as power death society acculturation and religion By examining questions of reception viewing and the culture of spectacle alongside the more traditional art historical themes of imperial patronage and stylistic change he presents a fresh and challenging interpretation of an extraordinarily rich cultural crucible in which many fundamental developments of later European art had their origins This second edition includes a new discussion of the Eurasian context of Roman art an updated bibliography and new full colour illustrations

Holy Sites Encircled Vered Shalev-Hurvitz, 2015 This volume explores the architecture of Jerusalem's round and octagonal churches the perceptions and architectural models that stood behind it and their impact on both ideas and design in future architecture

The Framing of Sacred Space Jelena Bogdanovic, 2017-06-19 The Framing of Sacred Space offers the first topical study of canopies as essential spatial and symbolic units in Byzantine rite churches Centrally planned columnar structures typically comprised of four columns and a roof canopies had a critical role in the modular processes of church design from actual church furnishings in the shape of a canopy to the church's structural core As architectonic objects of basic structural and design integrity canopies integrate an archetypical image of architecture and provide means for an innovative understanding of the materialization of the idea of the Byzantine church and its multi focal spatial presence The Framing of Sacred Space considers both the material and conceptual framing of sacred space and explains how the canopy bridges the physical and transcendental realms As a crucial element of church design in the Byzantine world a world that gradually abandoned the basilica as a typical building of Roman imperial secular architecture the canopy carried tectonic and theological meanings and through vaulted canopied bays and recognizable Byzantine domed churches established organic architectural symbolic and sacred ties between the Old and New Covenants In such an overarching context the canopy becomes an architectural parti a vital concept and dynamic design principle that carries the essence of the Byzantine church The Framing of Sacred Space highlights significant factors in understanding canopies through specific architectural settings and the Byzantine concepts of space thus also contributing to larger debates about the creation of sacred space and related architectural taxonomy architecture is unlike any other. Her main concern is not the buildings themselves but rather the dynamic character of Christianity and how church buildings shape and influence the religion. Kilde argues that a primary function of church buildings is to represent and reify three different types of power: divine power or ideas about God, personal empowerment as manifested in the individual's perceived relationship to the divine, and social power meaning the relationships between groups such as clergy and laity. Each type intersects with notions of Christian creed, cult, and code and is represented spatially and materially in church buildings. Kilde explores these categories chronologically from the early church to the twentieth century. She considers the form, organization, and use of worship rooms, the location of churches, and the interaction between churches and the wider culture. Church buildings have been integral to Christianity, and Kilde's important study sheds new light on the way they impact all aspects of the religion. Neither mere witnesses to transformations of religious thought or nor simple backgrounds for religious practice, church buildings are in Kilde's view dynamic participants in religious change and goldmines of information on Christianity itself.
