The New Bosnian Mosaic Elissa Helms, 2016-02-17 Since the violent events of the Bosnian war and the revelations of ethnic cleansing that shocked the world in the early 1990s Bosnia has become a metaphor for the new ethnic nationalisms for the transformation of warfare in the post Cold War era and for new forms of peacekeeping and state building This book is unique in offering a re examination of the Bosnian case with a bottom up perspective It gathers together cultural anthropologists and other social scientists to consider the specificities of the Bosnian case However the book also raises broader questions what are the consequences of internecine violence and how should societies attempt to overcome them Are the uncertainties and the transformations of Bosnian post war society due entirely to the war or are they related to wider processes encompassing post communist Europe as a whole And are the difficulties experienced by international state building operations mainly due to distinctive features of the local societies or are they due to the policies promoted by the international community itself

Trauma and Meaning Making Danielle Schaub, Elspeth McInnes, 2023-10-20 Trauma and Meaning Making highlights multiple practices of meaning making after traumatic events in the lives of individuals and communities Meaning making consists both in a personal journey towards a new way to exist and live in a world shattered by trauma and in public politics locating and defining what has happened In both perspectives the collection evaluates the impact achieved by naming the victim s and thus the right of the victim s to suffer from its aftermath or by refusing to recognise the traumatic event and thus the right of the victim s to respond to it A range of paradigms and techniques invite readers to consider anew the specificities of context and relationship while negotiating post traumatic survival By delineating how one makes sense of traumatic events this volume will enable readers to draw links between practices grounded in diverse disciplines encompassing creative arts textual analysis public and collective communication psychology and psychotherapy memory and memorial

MSF and the war in the former Yugoslavia 1991-2003 Laurence Binet, 2015-12-01 On 14 December 1995 the signing of the Dayton Peace Accords ended the separatist war in former Yugoslavia and created the State of Bosnia Herzegovina Twenty years on MSF reveals how the organization spoke out about a conflict marked by ethnic cleansing crimes against humanity targeted assaults of humanitarian organizations and individuals and the unfulfilled promises by the International Community MSF claimed that mass distributions of aid were simply a humanitarian alibi of the international community that lacked the will to take political and military measures to end the conflict Some MSF leaders even called for an armed intervention against the Bosnian Serb artillery bombing Sarajevo In December 1992 MSF published a report describing the Bosnian Serb policy of ethnic cleansing They denounced the Bosnian Serbs for hindering supplies to Srebrenica and Gorazde Muslim besieged enclaves They raised awareness and denounced the lack of protection of the population when the enclaves came under attack in 1994 and 1995 despite being declared safe zones by the UN In August 1995 MSF denounced a lack of access to the Serb refugees and from 2000 MSF advocated for parliamentary commissions to be set up to investigate the military and political responsibilities of the States involved in the Srebrenica crisis This Speaking Out Case Study explores the variety of questions and dilemmas MSF faced Among them to what extent should MSF risk the lives of its staff in order to operate in conflict zones Should MSF condemn obstacles set up to limit the access to the population if it meant no longer having any access at all Should MSF denounce the fact that humanitarian aid was presented by the international political leaders as the only solution to the conflict and call for military force an action that would lead to loss of human life Bosnian Studies Dzeneta Karabegovic,Adna

Karamehic-Oates,2023-01-30 It has been 27 years since the end of the war in Bosnia and Herzegovina and the history of the conflict its consequences and long term implications for the politics and lives of its citizens has remained a source of interest for scholars across the globe and across disciplines This scholarship has included works by historians and political scientists seeking to explain the war s origins with a view to Bosnia s traditional multi ethnic character and background The country has been used as a case study in state and peace building as well as to study the implications of ongoing transitional justice processes Other scholars within the fields of human rights and genocide studies have focused on documenting the war crimes committed against the people of Bosnia and Herzegovina during the conflict and the mass scale displacement of people mostly Bosnian Muslims from their homes and homelands International law scholars have carried this work further tracing the development of courts created in response to war crimes in Bosnia and their effectiveness in generating justice for victims Diaspora communities have formed in North America especially in St Louis Europe and Australia because of war and displacement and have themselves become a considerable topic of study spanning the disciplines of anthropology migration studies political science memory studies conflict and security studies psychology and geography This volume seeks to illuminate how Bosnian migrant and diaspora scholars are contributing to the development of Bosnian Studies The authors included in this volume are either writing from their new home bases in Australia Austria Canada Switzerland the United Kingdom and the United States among others or they have returned to Bosnia after a period of migration Their chapters have distinct entry points of inquiry demonstrating how scholars have integrated Bosnia as a theme across the range of disciplines in which they are situated The selections included in the volume range from literary analysis to personal memoirs of the conflict from studies of heritage and identity to political science analysis of diaspora voting to genocide studies and questions of or lack of ethics in the growing field of Bosnian Studies Adolescents and War Brian K Barber,2008-09-04 Hundreds of thousands of children are forced or legally recruited combatants in no fewer than 70 warring parties across the world In addition to these child soldiers thousands of youth voluntarily participate in politically related conflict Why how and in what capacities are such large numbers of teenagers involved in war and how are they affected Adolescents and War brings together world experts in an evidence based volume to thoroughly understand and document the intricacies of youth who have had substantial involvement in political violence Contributors argue that the assumption that youth are automatically debilitated by the violence they experience is much too simplistic effective care for youth must include an awareness of their motives and beliefs the roles they played in the conflict their relationships with others and the opportunities available to them after their experiences with war The book suggests that the meaning youth make of a conflict may protect them from mental harm For example Palestinian teens who were actively engaged in the first Intifada have fared better than Bosnian teens who were virtual sitting ducks to the sniper and grenade launches of the hidden forces during the siege of Sarajevo Covering youth involvement in conflicts in Afghanistan Angola Sierra Leone Mozambique Northern Ireland Israel Palestine and Bosnia the volume will be of interest to psychologists sociologists and political scientists and should be adopted for courses in social psychology crisis intervention and international conflict

Making Sense of the Global Raúl Acosta,Sadaf Rizvi,Ana Santos,2020-06-01 Anthropology is more relevant than ever before to making sense of the constant intercultural encounters taking place around the world Even though the discipline was born out of the need to understand the way humans interact it had for decades been trapped in a counter cultural stance that effectively disarmed it of any direct influence on public affairs Recent global trends however have brought this academic discipline to the attention of governments agencies and social entrepreneurs because of its capacity to create bridges of understanding between people of contrasting cultures This ability is today more necessary than ever before in facing the challenges posed by the shrinking of our world This volume provides reflections on what anthropological research can offer through its thick analyses We are convinced that ethnographic research can contribute to a better understanding of social phenomena in our global times

Warring with Words Michael Hanne, William D. Crano, Jeffery Scott Mio, 2014-08-01 Scholars in many of the disciplines surrounding politics explicitly utilize either a narrative perspective or a metaphor perspective though rarely the two in combination to analyze issues theoretical and practical domestic and international in the broad field of politics Among the topics they have studied are competing metaphors for the state or nation which have been coined over the centuries in diverse cultures the frequency with which communal and international conflicts are generated at least in part by the clashing religious and historical narratives held by opposing groups the cognitive short cuts employing metaphor by which citizens make sense of politics the need for political candidates to project a convincing self narrative the extent to which the metaphors used to formulate social issues determine the policies which will be developed to resolve them the failure of narratives around the security of the nation to take account of the individual experiences of women and children This volume is the first in which eminent scholars from disciplines as diverse as social psychology anthropology political theory international relations feminist political science and media studies have sought to integrate the narrative and the metaphor perspectives on politics It will appeal to any scholar interested in the many ways in which narrative and metaphor function in combination as cognitive and rhetorical instruments in discourse around politics
