The Hindu Kush Himalaya Assessment Philippus Wester, Arabinda Mishra, Aditi Mukherji, Arun

Bhakta Shrestha, 2019-01-04 This open access volume is the first comprehensive assessment of the Hindu Kush Himalaya HKH region. It comprises important scientific research on the social, economic and environmental pillars of sustainable mountain development and will serve as a basis for evidence-based decision making to safeguard the environment and advance people's well-being. The compiled content is based on the collective knowledge of over 300 leading researchers, experts and policymakers brought together by the Hindu Kush Himalayan Monitoring and Assessment Programme (HIMAP) under the coordination of the International Centre for Integrated Mountain Development (ICIMOD). This assessment was conducted between 2013 and 2017 as the first of a series of monitoring and assessment reports under the guidance of the HIMAP Steering Committee. Eklavya Sharma (ICIMOD), Atiq Raman (Bangladesh), Yuba Raj Khatri (Nepal), Linxiu Zhang (China), Surendra Pratap Singh (India), Tandong Yao (China) and David Molden (ICIMOD and Chair of the HIMAP SC). This First HKH Assessment Report consists of 16 chapters which comprehensively assess the current state of knowledge of the HKH region, increase the understanding of various drivers of change and their impacts, address critical data gaps and develop a set of evidence-based and actionable policy solutions and recommendations. These are linked to nine mountain priorities for the mountains and people of the HKH consistent with the Sustainable Development Goals. This book is a must-read for policy makers, academics and students interested in this important region and an essentially important resource for contributors to global assessments such as the IPCC reports.

Cosmopolitical Ecologies Across Asia Riamsara Kuyakanon, Hildegard Diemberger, David Sneath, 2021-11-25 Cosmopolitical Ecologies Across Asia offers a unique insight into the non-human and spiritual dimensions of environmental management in a changing world. This volume presents a comparative place-based exploration of landscapes across Asia and the entities, practices and knowledges that inhabit them. Rather than treating sacred mountains, terrains and water sources as self-contained esoteric religious phenomena, the authors consider them within critical cosmopolitical ecologies framings in which non-human entities are engaged as actors in the socio-political arena. The chapters include case studies of healing springs recognized by governments and sacred mountains that are addressed by heads of states and Communist Party cadres or that speak to the faithful through spirit mediums in a politics of re-enchantment. Contributors explore the diverse ways in which non-human entities such as forest spirits, reindeer mountains and Buddhist Masters of the Land are engaged by humans to navigate environmental change and address a range of ecological threats from large-scale mining to climate change. Cosmopolitical ecologies approaches encompass the healing power of topography as well as transformative intimacies with other than human beings such as sparrows within an Islamic eco-theological poetic setting. In this light, the book observes dynamic and creative processes of cosmological innovation including the repurposing of ritual to address challenges such as the Covid-19 epidemic. This book will be of great interest to students and scholars of environment and society across disciplinary perspectives in general and to anthropologists, human geographers, political ecologists, indigenous studies, area studies, environmental sciences and environmental humanities.

Community-based Biodiversity Conservation in the Himalayas Yogesh Gokhale, Ajeet K. Negi, 2011-01-01 Conservation of biodiversity by local communities has been part of the social system in the Himalayas. A variety of ecosystems are conserved traditionally by local communities. These communities are fully aware of the relationship between protecting the nature and getting ecosystem goods and services. The van panchayat system in Uttarakhand and sacred natural sites all over the Himalayas suggest a mix of the institutions in the region. Globally, community conserved areas (CCAs) are gaining importance. Biodiversity Heritage Sites, Community Reserves, and Conservation Reserves are the new institutional legal provisions that recognize the efforts of local communities in biodiversity conservation in India. The present volume highlights the importance of the existing systems in terms of their role in biodiversity conservation with community participation and suggests ways to enhance community-based biodiversity conservation in light of the emerging policy provisions. It would serve as an important reference for a wide range of stakeholders from policy makers to environmentalists, biodiversity experts, development practitioners, academicians, and researchers.

Himalayan Trade Oliver Scott, 2025-03-20 Himalayan Trade explores the vibrant exchange of goods, ideas, and culture that flourished for centuries between India, Tibet, and China. It delves into the complex network of trade routes crisscrossing the Himalayas, revealing how these pathways facilitated not only the movement of commodities like silk, salt, and spices but also spurred significant cultural and political transformations. The book highlights how economic interdependence shaped regional identities, demonstrating that trade was more than just commerce; it was a catalyst for societal change. The approach is interdisciplinary, drawing from history, anthropology, and economics to provide a well-rounded view. For instance, the book examines how the rise and fall of empires directly impacted trade regulations and routes, akin to how a change in government policies can alter modern trade agreements. The study also looks at how communities adapted socially and culturally to new ideas and goods. The book progresses systematically, starting with the geographical and historical context, then moves on to the major commodities traded and their economic impact. It culminates with an analysis of the geopolitical forces at play and the eventual decline of traditional routes due to modern globalization. This comprehensive approach makes Himalayan Trade a valuable resource for anyone interested in world history, economic history, and the cultural dynamics of the Himalayas.

Environmental Sustainability from the Himalayas to the Oceans Shikui Dong, Jayanta Bandyopadhyay, Sanjay Chaturvedi, 2017-01-23 The book is written in the backdrop of the environmental impacts of and future requirements from the natural environment for rapid economic growth that has characterized recent economic history of China and India, especially over the past few decades. The environmental impacts of such rapid economic changes have been more frequently than otherwise degrading in character. Environmental impacts of economic activities create degraded natural ecosystems by over utilization of nature's provisioning ecosystem.
