While she finds that cookbooks aimed to make readers mainly white middle class women into effective modern age homemakers who saw joy not drudgery in their domestic tasks she notes that the phenomenal popularity of Peg Bracken's 1960 cookbook The I Hate to Cook Book attests to the limitations of this kind of indoctrination. At the same time she explores the proliferation of bachelor cookbooks aimed at the man in the kitchen and the biases they display about male and female abilities, tastes and responsibilities. Neuhaus also addresses the impact of World War II rationing on homefront cuisine, the introduction of new culinary technologies, gourmet sensibilities and ethnic foods into American kitchens and developments in the cookbook industry since the 1960s. More than a history of the cookbook, Manly Meals and Mom's Home Cooking provides an absorbing and enlightening account of gender and food in modern America.
