Nathaniel Hawthorne,2016-03-07 This is the extended annotated edition including a rare and extensive biographical essay on the author as well as an introductory to the book written by George Parsons Lathrop This book which the author himself preferred to his previous novel is of quieter tone than The Scarlet Letter It is more minutely elaborated and its pathos depends more on the peculiar temperaments of its characters The scene is laid in Salem and the house which much effort has been made to identify corresponds in many points to an old dwelling formerly standing there known as the Curwen House and sometimes called the old witch house Engravings from a picture of it are used as illustrations of the book Some points in the story corresponding to the history of the Hawthornes were noted in the beginning of this sketch The character of Clifford and the problem of his strange destiny the mockery of fate which having adapted him so delicately to an existence of sensuous refinement stripped him in his youth at one brutal stroke of everything fair in life and threw him among the lowest and coarsest surroundings is the great study of the book Its pervading thought is the theory of inheritance the repetition of an original type now and then down a family line and the curse of wrong doing blasting innocent lives when wronged and wronged are dust The characters of Hepzibah and Phoebe are beautiful types strongly contrasted on the surface but having at bottom an intimate kinship in moral uprightness and capacity for devotion That of Judge Pyncheon also is exquisitely worked out in the subtle self deception of the hypocrite no character being so great a favorite in fiction and none so often badly drawn as that of the hypocrite because it looks so much more easy and uncomplicated than it is The House of the Seven Gables Nathaniel Hawthorne,2016-02-18
