

THE HIGHLAND LIGHT INFANTRY (71st Foot and 74th Foot)

This famous Regiment has the proud distinction of bearing more battle honours on its colours than any other Scottish regiment, its earliest battles being fought in India soon after it was raised in 1777. At the Battle of Assaye it won a special colour, still carried on state occasions.

Long service in India was followed by many years' active service in the Peninsula, under Wellington, and it won additional honours at Quatre Bras and Waterloo. Further fighting followed in South Africa, the Crimea, and India, and it was also in Egypt in 1882 and South Africa in 1899, its high reputation being fully maintained during the Continental War by many new battalions.

Alec Weir,2009-09-29 Formed in 1868 and already possessors of a proud history by the outbreak of the First World War the men of the 9th Glasgow Highland Battalion The Highland Light Infantry were right at the heart of the cataclysmic events that unfolded between 1914 and 1918 on the Western Front One of the first Territorial units to be rushed to France in 1914 they participated in almost all the major British battles including the Somme in 1916 and Ypres in 1917 Altogether around 4 500 men served with the Glasgow Highlanders in the First World War The composition of the Glasgow Highlanders changed dramatically over five years of fighting as the original Territorial members were replaced Despite this change the ethos of the battalion built up over half a century of peace and many months of warfare survived Alec Weir has steeped himself in the proud history of the Glasgow Highlanders in the First World War His accessible informal style employing many first hand accounts and his rigorous research combine here to produce a fascinating and detailed account of how ordinary men from all walks of life confronted and mastered the hellish conditions of trench warfare The Royal Highland Fusiliers Trevor Royle,2011-07-15 The Royal Highland Fusiliers came into being in 1959 as a result of the amalgamation of two regiments both of which had strong connections with Glasgow and the west of Scotland The Royal Scots Fusiliers founded in 1678 by Charles Erskine fifth Earl of Mar and The Highland Light Infantry or HLI created in 1881 as a result of the amalgamation of the 71st Highlanders and the 74th Highlanders Two distinctive infantry traditions can be found in the names of these regiments which have helped to form the line infantry regiments of the British Army Fusiliers were armed with the flintlock fusil instead of the more common matchlock musket and light infantry came into being during the Napoleonic Wars to provide the army with a corps of skirmishing sharpshooters similar to Austrian and German J ger troops Amongst those who have served as fusiliers or light infantrymen are Hugh Trenchard who became Air Chief Marshal of the Royal Air Force Winston Churchill and David Niven who joined the HLI from Sandhurst in the inter war years All these traditions and personalities went into the making of a regiment whose name lives on in the 2nd battalion of The Royal Regiment of Scotland which was formed in 2006 as a result of the restructuring of the infantry regiments of the British Army

Queen Victoria's Highlanders Stuart Reid,2011-12-20 In 2006 the title Highlanders finally disappeared from the British Army s list of infantry regiments after nearly 270 years Throughout this period Scottish Highland units distinguished themselves in battle but it was in the 19th century heyday of the British Empire that they acquired an elite reputation and their colourful uniforms evolved to their full complexity This book traces and explains the identity and appearance of the individual regiments throughout Queen Victoria s reign illustrating a wide variety of their home service uniforms with engravings paintings photographs and full colour plates specially researched and prepared for this tribute to a unique military tradition The Regimental Records of the British Army John S. The Regimental Records of the British Army by John S Farmer Cap-Badges of the British Army 1939-45 G L D Alderson,2014-01-01 The British Army has always set great store by its cap badges which in miniature encapsulated the history and traditions of the units that wore them They were worn with pride by the County regiments that formed the bulk of the infantry throughout the two world wars Here is a comprehensive illustrated collection of the cap badges of the Second World War the images taken from the author s own collection The commentary on each badge explains the joining together of battalions as the war progressed and a regimental index makes finding the badges easy This is a complex subject clarified in one volume for the first time The Story of the British Army Charles Cooper King,1897 Journal of the Royal

MacDonald,1908 Ranks and badges, precedence, salutes, colours, and small arms, in her majesty's army and navy, and auxiliary forces Ottley Lane Perry,1887 The Thin Red Line ,1894 Britain's Lost Regiments Trevor Royle,2014-10-02 The history of the British Army is really the story of its regiments and the men who served in them From the very beginning they formed the backbone of a singular institution that is itself a reflection of the way the people of Britain view themselves and their collective past Beginning with the Glorious revolution of 1660 and the return to the throne of King Charles II it was a time when Cromwell s Commonwealth and his military institutions were not popular But the new king had to be protected and the country had to be defended Through a process of slow growth and frequent tardiness an army eventually came into being and from the outset it was based solidly on a regimental system which needed steady supplies of recruits to keep it in being Since then men have joined up for many valid reasons such as adventure patriotism or a sense of duty but not all motives were commendable For every young man attracted by the chance to wear a uniform there would be many more who had fallen foul of the law been poverty stricken or fallen into debt or had committed a sexual indiscretion Others were simply coerced With the exception of the two great world wars of the twentieth century the Army rarely numbered more than 250 000 and in 2020 its numbers will have fallen to 82 000 a poor reward one would have thought for all past endeavours Over the years periods of warfare have always been followed by times of peace when expenditure on the armed forces dropped soldiers were made redundant and regiments mainly infantry were either disbanded or amalgamated often with painful consequences However there is a case for saying that no regiment is ever entirely lost and that it will always live on in men s minds as a mystical entity The British Army certainly makes a great deal of the golden thread which still links say the Middlesex Die Hards to the modern Princess of Wales s Royal Regiment but the harsh reality is that those ties are only as strong as the men who made them Like it or not the old and bold soldiers are a dwindling band and once they have fallen out for the last time the regiments will be truly lost For this reason Trevor Royle now explores the histories of the many regiments that have disappeared to celebrate their existence as well as the men and officers who served with distinction within them
