Press Portrayals of Women Politicians, 1870s-2000s , Teri Finneman,2015-11-25 Recent history suggests the United States is within reach of its first woman president This book examines the media experiences of women political pioneers who helped pave the way to the breaking of the glass ceiling. It analyzes newspaper treatment of four pioneering politicians between the 1870s and 2000s and explores how media discourse of women politicians has and hasn't changed over 150 years. The women featured are Victoria Woodhull the first woman to run for president, Jeannette Rankin the first woman elected to Congress, Margaret Chase Smith the first woman to receive a presidential nomination at a major party's convention, and Sarah Palin the first Republican woman vice presidential candidate. The social, political, and journalistic cultures of each woman's era are also explored to provide context for the women's media coverage. The findings illustrate that the press has used a variety of discursive strategies to delegitimize the candidacies of women politicians throughout history, which might have contributed to negative voter attitudes toward women in politics. Gendered stereotypes, gendered news frames, and double binds utilized in news coverage served to protect a male-dominated status quo. Yet a significant finding in Palin's coverage indicates that gender bias in news coverage is increasingly facing criticism, suggesting the tide may finally be turning in favor of more equalized discourse.

Change You Can Really Believe In Joseph Toomey, 2012-04-27

No President in living memory has entered office with a greater amount of goodwill and broad bipartisan support than Barack Obama. And few Presidents in living memory had arrived in Washington proclaiming such dramatically articulated vows to change the tone of politics to usher in an era of post-partisanship in an effort to rally the nation behind his plan of enacting an ambitious program of social and economic change. He vowed to enact a broad bipartisan agenda for health care reform, energy transformation, economic revitalization, job growth, and restoration of America's standing in the world. And no President in living memory has more quickly and more completely abandoned his promises. He enacted a health care plan that far more resembled plans he had bitterly criticized his opponents for supporting rather than the one his campaign outlined. His promised job growth through economic stimulus measures drove up the unemployment rate to double digits, leading to millions of job losses. His vows to restore fiscal probity resulted in the most ruinous deficits and public debt in U.S. history. His green energy program collapsed into a cesspool of crony political favoritism. His vows to restore relations with hostile nations like Iran and North Korea had only deepened those nations' disdain for America. Despite his harsh criticisms, Obama adopted nearly every plank in the Bush-era anti-terror policy. His promise to restore science to its rightful place resulted in the most rigidly inflexible program of ideological extremism in modern memory. Even more noteworthy was the fact that the new era of post-partisanship he had vowed to create in Washington resulted in the worst political gridlock in living memory. This book examines in detail hundreds of campaign promises Obama made while running for President, contrasting those with the record of failure and broken promises left in his wake. It is a story that has received too little attention until now.
