Moses,2013-12-11 How real is race What is biological fact what is fiction and where does culture enter What do we mean by a colorblind or postracial society or when we say that race is a social construction If race is an invention can we eliminate it This book now in its second edition employs an activity oriented approach to address these questions and engage readers in unraveling and rethinking the contradictory messages we so often hear about race The authors systematically cover the myth of race as biology and the reality of race as a cultural invention drawing on biocultural and cross cultural perspectives They then extend the discussion to hot button issues that arise in tandem with the concept of race such as educational inequalities slurs and racialized labels and interracial relationships In so doing they shed light on the intricate dynamic interplay among race culture and biology For an online supplement to How Real Is Race Second Edition click here     ENC Focus ,2000     Ethics at the Heart of Higher Education C. R. Crespo,Rita Kirk,2020-08-26 Today s college students have more knowledge available to them than can be absorbed mastery of a subject area creates siloes where nearly every course is tailored to comprehending subject matter that may be outdated before they graduate But learning is more than subject matter expertise Our fast paced environment requires instantaneous reactions to complex questions Our instant messaging age champions quick response over reflection or thought even the president governs by Twitter Yet the ethical dilemmas are no less complex than the subject matter cyber security prison reform labor rights abortion artificial intelligence or gun laws are common table topics over lunch Struggling through that complexity is central to understanding its implications for our culture This book brings together some of the leading ethicists in the country to consider the rightful place of ethics in the university today The authors make the case that higher education has a special duty to empower students to cultivate their character ethically assess situations and prepare them for an increasingly complex world With contributions from Mary Camp Alexander Cole Charles E Curran Robert J Howell D Stephen Long Robin Lovin Richard O Mason William F May Thomas Wm Mayo John Sadler     Foreign Operations, Export Financing, and Related Programs Appropriations for 2002 United States. Lucas, Sandra Goss-Lucas, Douglas A. Bernstein, 2004-12-13 Most new psychology instructors enter their first undergraduate classrooms with little or no formal preparation for their role as a teacher. The goal of this book is to review the body of teaching research that is available as well as some of the well accepted lore so as to make the first foray into teaching psychology a positive experience. Teaching Psychology outlines the major problems and issues confronting psychology teachers. It presents an overview of the nuts and bolts of teaching psychology including dealing with troubled and troubling students, choosing and using technology, developing evaluation instruments, and selecting methods for self evaluation. Written by two award winning psychology professors with over 50 years of combined teaching experience, the book offers a wide range of down to earth suggestions and immediately usable materials intended to help psychology teachers teach better and help students learn more. The chapters are organized to roughly parallel the sequence of tasks that new psychology teachers face, beginning with goal setting and ending with evaluation of one's teaching. Each chapter is chockfull of helpful tools including checklists, sample lecture notes, writing assignments, and grading criteria. To make it easier to customize this material, these tools are available on an accompanying CD along with a rating sheet for choosing a textbook, a student grade record sheet, a sample statement on academic integrity, and a pool of less than perfect test items to hone item writing skills. This book offers guidelines for teaching such as setting goals in line with 10 basic principles of effective teaching, planning the basics including choosing a text, writing a syllabus, and creating a grading system, setting a positive tone in the classroom, providing tips on asking and answering questions, promoting critical thinking, and evaluating student performance. Intended for psychology graduate students who are learning to teach, faculty who train psychology instructors, and new psychology faculty at institutions ranging from high schools to universities as well as experienced faculty wishing to hone their teaching skills.
