Urban Ecology Kevin J. Gaston, 2010 This is the urban century in which for the first time the majority of people live in towns and cities Understanding how people influence and are influenced by the green component of these environments is therefore of enormous significance Providing an overview of the essentials of urban ecology the book begins by covering the vital background concepts of the urbanisation process and the effect that it can have on ecosystem functions and services Later sections are devoted to examining how species respond to urbanisation the many facets of human ecology interactions and the issues surrounding urban planning and the provision of urban green spaces Drawing on examples from urban settlements around the world it highlights the progress to date in this burgeoning field as well as the challenges that lie ahead Provided by publisher

Inventing the Garden Matteo Vercelloni, Virgilio Vercelloni, Paola Gallo, 2010 The authors trace the evolution of the Western garden from the first plots cultivated for pleasure in the Middle East to today's diverse green spaces that challenge traditional ideas about what constitutes a garden They examine the changing attitude toward nature as something to be dominated or embraced ordered or allowed to range freely exploited or conserved Examples of the highly prescribed hortus conclusus or enclosed spaces of the Middle Ages are found in the Italian Renaissance gardens and the symmetries of Versailles and Les Tuileries After the rise of Romanticism in the late eighteenth century English gardeners such as William Kent and Capability Brown embraced the concept that nature should prevail over man's manipulation of it and created gardens that broke through traditional enclosures A century later while the American West witnessed both the conquering spirit of the homesteaders and the first stirrings of the conservation movement urban parks and gardens were created as oases to which all people had access The book concludes with a look at contemporary gardens where efforts to reclaim landscapes and repurpose crumbling infrastructure are taking place within an atmosphere of ecological sensitivity appreciating the idea that the whole planet is a garden and all who live in it are gardeners
