Plant Propagating Activity

What is 'Propagation'?

Propagation is the process of creating new plants out of existing plants, just like magic! You can take part of an existing plant, like its stem or leaves for example and use them to grow an entirely new plant.

How to Propagate

Different plant varieties may be propagated in different ways, most commonly propagation is done by cutting away part of the stem and placing it in water until it grows its own roots and can be planted in soil.

Other ways to propagate are by splitting plants at the roots, or waiting until they grow 'pups'. Pups are smaller offshoots that some plants make naturally, that can be separated and grown into their own plants!

Some of the easiest plants to propagate are:

Pothos
Tradescantia
Umbrella Plant
African Violets
Philodendron
Kiss Me Quick
Prayer Plant

1

Firstly, select your plant and find a part of the stem that has 2-3 leaf nodes and is about 10-15cm long. It should be a stem that has not yet grown into a new plant.

2

Now, you'll need to cut the part of your plant and insert it into a container filled with water or potting soil and keep it in a warm, bright area.

3

Now place your cutting in water and keep it in a warm, bright area until the roots are about 5cm long.

4

Now you're ready to plant! Put your cutting in soil and keep it in a warm, bright area until the roots are about 5cm long.

5

Now you're ready to plant! Put your cutting in soil and keep it in a warm, bright area until the roots are about 5cm long.
