The Lytles Thier Life On The Farm:

The Lytles Howard H. Lytle, 1978 Hurtin' Words Ted Ownby, 2018-10-31 When Tammy Wynette sang D I V O R C E she famously said she spelled out the hurtin words to spare her child the pain of family breakup In this innovative work Ted Ownby considers how a wide range of writers thinkers activists and others defined family problems in the twentieth century American South Ownby shows that it was common for both African Americans and whites to discuss family life in terms of crisis but they reached very different conclusions about causes and solutions In the civil rights period many embraced an ideal of Christian brotherhood as a way of transcending divisions Opponents of civil rights denounced brotherhoodism as a movement that undercut parental and religious authority Others especially in the African American community rejected the idea of family crisis altogether working to redefine family adaptability as a source of strength Rather than attempting to define the experience of an archetypal southern family Ownby looks broadly at contexts such as political and religious debates about divorce and family values southern rock music autobiographies and more to reveal how people in the South used the concept of the family as a proxy for imagining a better future or happier past Indiana County, Pennsylvania, 1913 History of Westmoreland County, Pennsylvania John Newton Boucher, 1906 The New Agrarian Mind Allan C. Carlson, 2017-07-05 The self sufficiency and regional outlook of farm life characterized the United States until the Civil War period With the triumph of the industrial North over the rural South the expansion of urbanism and the closing of the frontier the agrarian sector became an economic and cultural minority The social benefits of rural life a sense of independence commitment to democracy an abundance of children stable community life were threatened This volume examines the rise of a distinctive agrarian intellectual movement to combat these trends The New Agrarian Mind now in paperback synthesizes the thought of twentieth century agrarian writers It weaves together discussions of major representative figures such as Liberty Hyde Bailey Carle Zimmerman and Wendell Berry with myth shattering analyses of the movement s cultural diversity intellectual influence and ideological complexity Collectively labeled the New Agrarians to distinguish them from the simpler Jeffersonianism of the nineteenth century they shared a coherent set of goals that were at once socially conservative and economically radical Austerity Measures Anders M. Greene-Crow, 2025-04-15 Explores how early modern writers used poetry to fight food insecurity Austerity Measures explores how early modern writers used poetic form as a tool to fight extreme food insecurity Authors such as Thomas Tusser George Herbert Robert Herrick Anne Bradstreet and Thomas Tryon witnessed the privatization of public farmland rising food prices amidst uncontrolled inflation mass starvation in nascent North American colonies and the racist violence of the Caribbean plantation slavery system Anders M Greene Crow shows how these authors experimented with literary form in an effort to change readers beliefs and behaviors with regard to food ethics By examining this history Greene Crow sheds new light on both modern day food ethics and activism s place in literary writing This book traces how authors solutions to food insecurity turned away from structural models of communal care and toward the now dominant consumer capitalist model championing individual dietary choice Simultaneously he reveals why literary criticism began to discount literature s power as a tool for social change The New Critical school whose close reading methodology dominates literary analysis arose out of Southern Agrarianism a movement that sought to return the South to antebellum structures of racial hierarchy and labor exploitation that took shape in the early modern period These intersectional labor politics underlie close reading continuing to limit critics understanding of how literary form produces social change and reinforcing the scarcity culture of literature departments today By recovering poetry s role as a force for affecting readers relationship to one of their most basic needs the need to eat Austerity Measures develops an alternative methodology that takes writers material conditions into account in analyzing form

Commemorative Biographical Record of Washington County, Pennsylvania ,1893 The Postsouthern Sense of Place in Contemporary Fiction

Martyn Bone,2014-01-13 For generations southern novelists and critics have grappled with a concept that is widely seen as a trademark of their literature a strong attachment to geography or a sense of place In the 1930s the Agrarians accorded special meaning to rural life particularly the farm in their definitions of southern identity For them the South seemed an organic and rooted region in contrast to the North where real estate development and urban sprawl evoked a faceless raw capitalism By the end of the twentieth century however economic and social forces had converged to create a modernized South How have writers responded to this phenomenon Is there still a sense of place in the South or perhaps a distinctly postsouthern sense of place Martyn Bone innovatively draws upon postmodern thinking to consider the various perspectives that southern writers have brought to the concept of place and to look at its fate in a national and global context He begins with a revisionist assessment of the Agrarians who failed in their attempts to turn their proprietary ideal of the small farm into actual policy but whose broader rural aesthetic lived on in the work of neo Agrarian writers including William Faulkner and Eudora Welty By the 1950s adherence to this aesthetic was causing southern writers and critics to lose sight of the social reality of a changing South Bone turns to more recent works that do respond to the impact of capitalist spatial development on the South and on the nation generally including that self declared international city Atlanta Close readings of novels by Robert Penn Warren Walker Percy Richard Ford Anne Rivers Siddons Tom Wolfe and Toni Cade Bambara illuminate evolving ideas about capital land labor and class while introducing southern literary studies into wider debates around social cultural and literary geography Bone concludes his remarkably rich book by considering works of Harry Crews and Barbara Kingsolver that suggest the southern sense of place may be not only post Agrarian or postsouthern but also transnational

Modernism Nanette Norris, 2015-12-16 New Modernist Studies while reviving and revitalizing modernist studies through lively scholarly debate about historicity aesthetics politics and genres is struggling with important questions concerning the delineation that makes discussion fruitful and possible This volume aims to explore and clarify the position of the so called core of literary modernism in its seminal engagement with the Great War In studying the years of the Great War we find ourselves once more studying the giants about whom there is so much more to say as well as adding hitherto marginalized writers and a few visual artists to the canon The contention here is that these war years were seminal to the development of a distinguishable literary practice which is called modernism but perhaps could be further delineated as Great War modernism a practice whose aesthetic merits can be addressed through formal analysis This collection of essays offers new insight into canonical British American European modernism of the Great War period using the critical tools of contemporary expansionist modernist studies By focusing on war and on the experience of the soldier and of those dealing with issues of war and survival these studies link the unique forms of expression found in modernism with the fragmented violent and traumatic experience of the time

Imagination in Place Wendell Berry, 2010-01-10 Berry s latest collection of essays is the reminiscence of a literary life It is a book that acknowledges a lifetime of intellectual influences and in doing so positions Berry more squarely as a cornerstone of American literature A necessary book Here Berry s place as the grandfather of slow food or the prophet of rural living is not questioned This book ensures we understand the depth and breadth of Berry s art San Francisco Chronicle A stellar collection Foodies architects transportation engineers and other writers are adopting and adapting Berry s concepts perhaps leading to what he envisions will one day be an authentic settlement of our country The Oregonian A writer who can imagine the community belonging to its place is one who has applied his knowledge and citizenship to achieve the goal to which Wendell Berry has always aspired to be a native to his own local culture And for Berry what is local fully imagined becomes universal and the local is to know one s place and allow the imagination to inspire and instill a practical respect for what is there besides ourselves In Imagination in Place we travel to the local cultures of several writers important to Berry s life and work from Wallace Stegner s great West and Ernest Gaines Louisiana plantation life to Donald Hall s New England and on to the Western frontier as seen through the Far East lens of Gary Snyder Berry laments today s dispossessed and displaced those writers and people with no home and no citizenship but he argues that there is hope for the establishment of new local cultures in both the practical and literary sense Rich with Berry s personal experience of life as a Kentucky agrarian the collection includes portraits of a few of America s most imaginative writers including James Still Hayden Carruth Jane Kenyon John Haines and several others
