Performance Todd Landon Barnes,2020-04-09 This Element examines recent documentaries depicting marginalized youth who are ostensibly redeemed by their encounters with Shakespeare These films emerge in response to four historical and discursive developments the rise of reality television and its emphasis on the emotional transformation of the private individual the concomitant rise of neoliberalism and emotional capitalism which employ therapeutic discourses to individualize social inequality the privatization of public education and the rise of so called no excuses or new paternalist charter schools and the emergence of new modes of address infusing evangelical conversion narratives with a therapeutic self help ethos The Perils of Identity Caroline Dick,2011-11-15 Calls for the provision of group rights are a common part of politics in Canada Many liberal theorists consider identity claims a necessary condition of equality but do these claims do more harm than good To answer this question Caroline Dick engages in a critical analysis of liberal identity driven theories and their application in cases such as Sawridge Band v Canada which sets a First Nation s right to self determination against indigenous women s right to equality She contrasts Charles Taylor s theory of identity recognition Will Kymlicka s cultural theory of minority rights and Avigail Eisenberg s theory of identity related interests with an alternative rights framework that account for both group and in group differences Dick concludes that the problem is not the concept of identity itself but the way in which prevailing conceptions of identity and group rights obscure intragroup differences Instead she proposes a politics of intragroup difference that has the power to transform rights discourse in Canada A Tale of
