The Cartography of North America Pierluigi Portinaro,Franco Knirsch,1987-01-01 Mapping North America , The First Mapping of America Alex Johnson,2017-08-23 The First Mapping of America tells the story of the General Survey At the heart of the story lie the remarkable maps and the men who made them the commanding and highly professional Samuel Holland Surveyor General in the North and the brilliant but mercurial William Gerard De Brahm Surveyor General in the South Battling both physical and political obstacles Holland and De Brahm sought to establish their place in the firmament of the British hierarchy Yet the reality in which they had to operate was largely controlled from afar by Crown administrators in London and the colonies and by wealthy speculators whose approval or opposition could make or break the best laid plans as they sought to use the Survey for their own ends

The Mapping of North America: 1671-1700 Philip D. Burden,2007 Mapping a Continent Raymonde Litalien,Denis Vaugeois,Jean-François Palomino,2007 In March 1493 Christopher Columbus returned from a long voyage to the west convinced he had reached India In truth an immense continent then absent from any map had blocked his path A formidable barrier separating Europe from Asia North America became a coveted land attracting sailors missionaries trappers soldiers and scientists Seeking not only the Vermilion Sea but also fish beavers and precious metals they crossed rivers and trekked through portages forests and mountains With the help of Indians they unlocked the secrets of this terra incognita Art scientific papers and maps provide essential witness to this quest for knowledge that allowed Columbus Auchagac Champlain Franquelin Thomspon Mackenzie and Lewis and Clark to take the measure of America For three centuries motivated by the goal of finding a nautical route to the Pacific Ocean and from there the Orient European explorers surveyed and mapped the large territory exploring every body of water from the tiniest bays to the greatest rivers and pushing deeper into the interior Three hundred years almost to the day after Columbus s first voyage Alexander Mackenzie reached the Pacific Ocean from Canada by land 22 July 1793 In 1805 spurred on by Jefferson the Lewis and Clark expedition crossed the continent from the Missouri Mississippi delta to where the Columbia River flows into the Pacific Ocean The continent s measure had been taken

Schulten, 2018 Throughout its history America has been defined through maps Whether made for military strategy or urban reform to encourage settlement or to investigate disease maps invest information with meaning by translating it into visual form They capture what people knew what they thought they knew what they hoped for and what they feared As such they offer unrivaled windows onto the past In this book Susan Schulten uses maps to explore five centuries of American history from the voyages of European discovery to the digital age With stunning visual clarity A History of America in 100 Maps showcases the power of cartography to illuminate and complicate our understanding of the past Gathered primarily from the British Library's incomparable archives and compiled into nine chronological chapters these one hundred full color maps range from the iconic to the unfamiliar Each is discussed in terms of its specific features as well as its larger historical significance in a way that conveys a fresh perspective on the past Some of these maps were made by established cartographers while others were made by unknown individuals such as Cherokee tribal leaders soldiers on the front and the first generation of girls to be formally educated Some were tools of statecraft and diplomacy and others were instruments of social reform or even advertising and entertainment But when considered together they demonstrate the many ways that maps both reflect and influence historical change Inside dust jacket
