Borderland Religion Daisy L. Machado, Bryan S. Turner, Trygve Wyller, 2018-06-12 Borderland Religion narrates presents and interprets the fascinating and significant practices when borders migrants and religion intersect This collection of original essays combines theology philosophy and sociology to examine diverse religious issues surrounding external national borders and internal domestic borders as these are challenged by the unstoppable flow of documented and undocumented migrants While many studies of migration have examined how religion plays a major role in the assimilation and integration of waves of migration this volume looks at a number of empirical studies of how emergent religious practices arise around border crossings The volume begins with a detailed analysis of the borderland religion context and research The aim is to bring an eschatological interpretation of the borderland religion its impact and significance for migrants Themes include a critical analysis of how religion has formatted Europe empirical studies from the US Mexican border and Southern Africa an overview of the European refugee crisis in 2015 editors account of borderland religion from the perspective of citizenship studies Contributions of scholars from a broad range of disciplines ensure a careful analysis of this highly topical situation The volume s interdisciplinary profile will appeal to scholars and students in religious studies migration studies theology and citizenship studies

Religion and Technology into the Future Sam Gill, 2018-08-15 Religion and Technology into the Future From Adam to Tomorrow s Eve examines the broad significance of the current trends and accomplishments in technology AI robots against the long history of the human imagination of making sentient beings It seeks to enrich our understanding of the present as it is trending into the future against the richly relevant and surprisingly long past Creatively considered in some depth are a wide range of specific examples drawn especially from contemporary film and television as well as from cosmology ancient mythology biblical literature classical literature folklore evolution popular culture technology and futurist studies This book is distinctive in part in drawing on a wide range of resources demonstrating the indispensable interrelationship among these disparate materials Science technology economics and philosophy are seamlessly interwoven with history gender culture religion literature pop culture art and film Written for general as well as academic readers it offers fascinating and provocative insights into who we are and where we are going

The Making of Religion Andrew Lang, 2020-09-28 By the nature of things this book falls under two divisions The first eight chapters criticise the current anthropological theory of the origins of the belief in spirits Chapters ix xvii again criticise the current anthropological theory as to how the notion of spirit once attained man arrived at the idea of a Supreme Being These two branches of the topic are treated in most modern works concerned with the Origins of Religion such as Mr Tyler s Primitive Culture Mr Herbert Spencer s Principles of Sociology Mr Jevons s Introduction to the History of Religion the late Mr Grant Allen s Evolution of the Idea of God and many others Yet I have been censured for combining in this work the two branches of my subject and the second part has been regarded as but faintly connected with the first The reason for this criticism seems to be that while one small set of students is interested in and familiar with the themes examined in the first part namely the psychological characteristics of certain mental states from which in part the doctrine of spirits is said to have arisen that set of students neither knows nor cares anything about the matter handled in the second part This group of students is busied with Psychical Research and the obscure human faculties implied in alleged cases of hallucination telepathy double personality human automatism clairvoyance and so on Meanwhile anthropological readers are equally indifferent as to that branch of psychology which examines the conditions of hysteria hypnotic trance double personality and the like Anthropologists have not hitherto applied to the savage mental conditions out of which in part the doctrine of spirits arose the recent researches of French German and English psychologists of the new school As to whether these researches into abnormal psychological conditions do or do not indicate the existence of a transcendental region of human faculty anthropologists appear to be unconcerned The only English exception known to me is Mr Tylor and his great work Primitive Culture was written thirty years ago before the modern psychological studies of Professor William James Dr Romaine Newbold M Richet Dr Janet Professor Sidgwick Mr Myers Mr Gurney Dr Parish and many others had commenced Anthropologists have gone on discussing the trances and visions and so called demoniacal possession of savages as if no new researches into similar facts in the psychology of civilised mankind existed or if they existed threw any glimmer of light on the abnormal psychology of savages I have on the other hand thought it desirable to sketch out a study of savage psychology in the light of recent psychological research Thanks to this daring novelty the book has been virtually taken as two books anthropologists have criticised the second part and one or two Psychical Researchers have criticised the first part each school leaving one part severely alone Such are the natural results of a too restricted specialism Even to Psychical Researchers the earlier division is of scant interest because witnesses to successful abnormal or supernormal faculty in savages cannot be brought into court and cross examined But I do not give anecdotes of such savage successes as evidence to facts they are only illustrations and evidence to beliefs and methods as of crystal gazing and automatic utterances of secondary personality which among the savages correspond to the supposed facts examined by Psychical Research among the civilised I only point out as Bastian had already pointed out the existence of a field that deserves closer study by anthropologists who can observe savages in their homes We need persons trained in the psychological laboratories of Europe and America as members of anthropological expeditions It may be noted that in his Letters from the South Seas Mr Louis Stevenson makes some curious observations especially on a singular form of hypnotism applied to himself with fortunate results The method used in native medicine was novel and the results were entirely inexplicable to Mr Stevenson who had not been amenable to European hypnotic practice But he was not a trained expert Anthropology must remain incomplete while it neglects this field whether among wild or civilised men In the course of time this will come to be acknowledged It will be seen that we cannot really account for the origin of the belief in spirits while we neglect the scientific study of those psychical conditions as of hallucination and the hypnotic trance in which that belief must probably have had some at least of its origins

Religion and the Global City David Garbin, Anna Strhan, 2017-06-29 This is the first book to explore how religious movements and actors shape and are shaped by aspects of global city dynamics Theoretically grounded and empirically informed Religion and the Global City advances discussions in the field of urban religion and establishes future research directions David Garbin and Anna Strhan bring together a wealth of ethnographically rich and vivid case studies in a diversity of urban settings in both Global North and Global South contexts These case studies are drawn from both classical global cities such as London and Paris and also from large cosmopolitan metropolises such as Bangalore Rio de Janeiro Lagos Singapore and Hong Kong which all constitute in their own terms powerful sites within the informational cultural and moral networked economies of contemporary globalization The chapters explore some of the most pressing issues of our times globalization and the role of global neo liberal regimes urban change and in particular the dramatic urbanization of Global South countries and religious politics and religious revivalism associated for instance with transnational Islam or global Pentecostal Charismatic Christianity

The Emergence of Whitehead's Metaphysics, 1925-1929 Lewis S. Ford, 1984-01-01 A breathtaking detective story this book charts the adventure of Whitehead's ideas in a remarkably detailed and careful reconstruction of his metaphysical views Incorporating heretofore unpublished material from students notes and correspondence Professor Ford analyzes the order of composition of various portions of Whitehead's books principally Science and the Modern World Religion in the Making and Process and Reality Ford's reconstructive method is perfectly tailored to his subject for Whitehead revised by inserting new material rather than altering or deleting the old Thus Ford is able to date the sequence of the composition of many passages In distinguishing these layers of articulation he has pushed the techniques of higher criticism beyond anything the French structuralists and deconstructionists have dreamed of and chronicled an extraordinary intellectual biography

Modern Societies and the Science of Religions Lammert Leertouwer, Dr G a Wieggers, Jan G Platvoet, 2002-01-01 This volume gathers essays written by seventeen specialists in the science of religions It focuses on the social cultural institutional and political contexts of the Study of Religions in resp modern France Germany the Netherlands Spain the USA Turkey Israel Morocco Saudi Arabia South Africa Indonesia Japan and China

Hegel and Whitehead George R. Lucas, 1986-01-01 Hegel and Whitehead presents a careful exploration of the similarities between these two formidable representatives of systematic philosophy Some of the most distinguished scholars in European and American philosophy converge herein to explore the similarities in Hegel's and Whitehead's contemporary influence as well as in the content of their respective systems and in their philosophical styles This volume begins with important critical comparative and historical assessments of the contemporary problems in metaphysics philosophy of science philosophy of mind ethics social thought and philosophy of religion of history and of culture against the background of the important contributions made to these discussions by both Hegel and Whitehead The result is a collection of vigorous new essays in systematic philosophy that reflect the enduring contributions of these two philosophers to the contemporary philosophical climate on two continents The Making of the Jewish Middle Class Marion A. Kaplan, 1991 Describes the life of Jewish middle class women in Wilhelmine Germany Pp 148 152 Anti Semitism in the University state that until about 1905 women students discriminated against because of their sex tended to show solidarity by forming organizations open to all in contrast to the segregated male students organizations Russian Jewish women were especially despised even by German Jewish male students Pp 182 185 describe discrimination against Jewish teachers noting that their chances of employment were highly limited See also the index under Anti Semitism

Mapping the Academic Debate Johannes Duschka, Christoph Kleine, Monika Wohlrab-Sahr, Florian Zemmin, 2024-12-16 This volume maps the international academic debate on secularity It places seminal contributions from within Western academia alongside less well known texts from various parts of the world in several cases this is the first time that they have been translated into English The volume demonstrates that the academic debate on secularity was and is a global debate with contributions from many regions The collected texts relate to each other either directly or indirectly by referring to similar arguments whether reinforcing or criticising them and thus create a discourse When speaking of global secularity we therefore do not insinuate a uniform world secularity resulting from the alleged global diffusion of Western norms ideas and concepts It is rather a web of relations that is constituted via various different references These references are not evenly distributed the development in the West is often the point of reference to which positions from other regions relate to which they connect or from which they distance themselves But the references are not completely unidirectional We also present texts from Europe that underline the multidirectionality of the process even early on Thereby the volume offers the reader the material with which to trace these global exchanges and references The Oxford Handbook of the Sociology of Religion

Peter Clarke, 2011-02-04 The Oxford Handbook of the Sociology of Religion draws on the expertise of an international team of scholars providing both an entry point into the sociological study and understanding of religion and an in depth survey into its changing forms and content in the contemporary world The role and impact of religion and spirituality on the politics culture education and health in the modern world is rigorously discussed and debated The study of the sociology of religion forges interdisciplinary links to explore aspects of continuity and change in the contemporary interface between society and religion Using a combination of theoretical methodological and content led approaches the fifty seven contributors collectively emphasise the complex relationships between religion and aspects of life from scientific research to law ecology to art music to cognitive science crime to institutional health care and more The developing character of religion irreligion and atheism and the impact of religious diversity on social cohesion are explored An overview of current scholarship in the field is provided in each themed chapter with an emphasis on encouraging new thinking and reflection on familiar and emergent themes to stimulate further debate and scholarship The resulting essay collection provides an invaluable resource for research and teaching in this diverse discipline The Making of Religion Andrew
