New Directions in Contemporary Australian Poetry Dan Disney, Matthew Hall, 2021-10-04 This book sets out to navigate questions of the future of Australian poetry Deliberately designed as a dialogue between poets each of the four clusters presented here Indigeneities Political Landscapes Space Place Materiality Revising an Australian Mythos models how poetic communities in Australia continue to grow in alliance toward certain constellated ideas Exploring the ethics of creative production in a place that continues to position capital over culture property over community each of the twenty essays in this anthology takes the subject of Australian poetry definitively beyond Eurocentrism and white privilege By pushing back against nationalizing mythologies that have over the last 200 years since colonization not only narrativized the logic of instrumentalization but rendered our lands precarious this book asserts new possibilities of creative responsiveness within the Australian sensorium Speaking the Earth's Languages Stuart Cooke, 2013 Speaking the Earth s Languages brings together for the first time critical discussions of postcolonial poetics from Australia and Chile. The book crosses multiple Languages, landscapes and disciplines and draws on a wide range of both oral and written poetries in order to make strong claims about the importance of a nomad poetics not only for understanding Aboriginal or Mapuche writing practices but more widely for the problems confronting contemporary literature and politics in colonized landscapes. The book begins by critiquing canonical examples of non indigenous postcolonial poetics. Incisive readings of two icons of Australian and Chilean poetry, Judith Wright (1915-2000) and Pablo Neruda (1904-1973) provide rich insights into non indigenous responses to colonization in the wake of modernity. The second half of the book establishes compositional links between Aboriginal and Mapuche poetics and between such oral and written poetics more generally. The book's final part develops an emerging synthesis of contemporary Aboriginal and Mapuche poetics with reference to the work of two of the most important avant garde Aboriginal and Mapuche poets of recent times, Lionel Fogarty (1958-) and Paulo Huirimilla (1973-). Speaking the Earth's Languages uses these fascinating links between Aboriginal and Mapuche poetics as the basis of a deliberately nomadic, open ended theory for an Australian-Chilean postcolonial poetics. The central argument of this book, the author writes, is that a nomadic poetics is essential for a genuinely postcolonial form of habitation or a habitation of colonized landscapes that doesn't continue to replicate colonialist ideologies involving indigenous dispossession and environmental exploitation.

Ecopoetics and the Global Landscape Isabel Sobral Campos, 2018-12-27. Ecopoetics and the Global Landscape: Critical Essays surveys ecopoetry from a global perspective across different historical epochs. Its comparative approach foregrounds the importance of ecopoetics within the context of distinct national literatures and cultures to reveal the ubiquitous intersection of poetry with ecocriticism. The collection analyzes environmental problems resulting from the legacies of colonialism and focuses on issues of environmental justice and indigenous issues as well as on the intersection of genocide studies and environmentalism. It also examines ecologically informed modes of relating to the world. In particular, it engages with interactions between the human and nonhuman as well as mind and matter. Finally, it broadens the scope of place to include both the absent land of exiled peoples and the urban built environment. Ecocritical Concerns and the Australian Continent Beate Neumeier, Helen Tiffin, 2019-11-08. Ecocritical Concerns and the Australian Continent investigates literary, historical, anthropological and linguistic perspectives in connection with activist engagements. The necessary cross fertilization between these different perspectives throughout this volume emerges in the resonances between essays exploring recurring concerns ranging from biodiversity and preservation policies to the devastating effects of the mining industries to present concerns and futuristic visions of the effects of climate change. Of central concern in all of these contexts is the impact of settler colonialism and an increasing turn to indigenous knowledge systems. A number of chapters engage with questions of ecological imperialism in relation to specific sociohistorical moments and effects, probing early colonial encounters between settlers and indigenous people or rereading specific forms of colonial literature. Other essays take issue with past and present constructions of indigeneity in different contexts as well as with indigenous resistance against such ascriptions while the importance of an understanding of indigenous notions of care for country is taken up from a variety of different disciplinary angles in terms of interconnectedness anchoredness living country and living heritage

Follow the Rabbit-Proof Fence Doris Pilkington, 2013-05-01 This extraordinary story of courage and faith is based on the actual experiences of three girls who fled from the repressive life of Moore River Native Settlement following along the rabbit proof fence back to their homelands Assimilationist policy dictated that these girls be taken from their kin and their homes in order to be made white Settlement life was unbearable with its chains and padlocks barred windows hard cold beds and horrible food Solitary confinement was doled out as regular punishment The girls were not even allowed to speak their language Of all the journeys made since white people set foot on Australian soil the journey made by these girls born of Aboriginal mothers and white fathers speaks something to everyone

Dancing Home Paul Collis, 2025-06-03 When he was in gaol he d begun to prepare himself for the fight of his life a showdown with the policeman McWilliams he d face life with death and see who blinked first Blackie and Rips are fresh out of prison when they set off on a road trip back to Wiradjuri country with their mate Carlos Blackie is out for revenge against the cop who put him in prison on false grounds He is also craving to reconnect with his grandmother s country Driven by his hunger for drugs and payback Blackie reaches dark places of both mystery and beauty as he searches for peace Moreover he is willing to pay for that peace with his own life

A Companion to Australian Aboriginal Literature Belinda Wheeler, 2013 This international collection of eleven original essays on Australian Aboriginal literature provides a comprehensive critical companion that contextualizes the Aboriginal canon for scholars researchers students and general readers Australian Aboriginal literature once relegated to the margins of Australian literary studies now receives both national and international attention Not only has the number of published texts by contemporary Australian Aboriginals risen sharply but scholars and publishers have also recently begun recovering earlier published and unpublished Indigenous works Writing by Australian Aboriginals is making a decisive impression in fiction autobiography biography poetry film drama and music and has recently been anthologized in Oceania and North America Until now however there has been no comprehensive critical companion that contextualizes the Aboriginal canon for scholars researchers students and general readers This international collection of eleven original essays fills this gap by discussing crucial aspects of Australian Aboriginal literature and tracing the development of Aboriginal literacy from the oral tradition up until today contextualizing the work of Aboriginal artists and writers and exploring aspects of Aboriginal life writing such as obstacles toward publishing questions of editorial control or the lack thereof intergenerational and interracial collaborations combining oral history and life writing and the pros and cons of translation into European languages Contributors Katrin Althans Maryrose Casey Danica Cerce Stuart Cooke Paula Anca Farca Michael R Griffiths Oliver Haag Martina Horakova Jennifer Jones Nicholas Jose Andrew King Jeanine Leane Theodore F
