National Labor Relations Board,1986 Re-Constructing the Global Network Economy Andrew Taylor,Adam Bronstone,2022-10-07 This book looks at how to build more resilience into socio economic networks within local communities Understanding the relationships between attachment to place complex systems and patterns of knowledge creation is not straightforward but these relationships are emerging as the challenges that we face in bridging the gap between the social worlds that we inhabit and an emerging digital world These issues have been brought into even sharper focus through changes resulting from the COVID 19 pandemic On the one hand forced familiarity with communication technologies is driving globalisation forwards whilst on the other the crisis has created awareness of dependencies and heightened desires for more local solutions Plenty of books have been written about the rise of digital networks and the decline of local communities This book takes a radical approach by identifying how these trends fit together and provides examples of how digital networks can be made to work for the local as well as the global economy Using a case study approach the book offers a clear sighted view of the role of relational capital in specific places and organisations and shows the transformational impact that they can have at a micro level The book deliberately seeks to shake up preconceived ideas and is ideal for strategy practitioners and policy makers within governments and NGOs involved in connecting local to wider network economies Sanctions, Accountability and Governance in a Globalised World Jeremy Matam Farrall,Kim Rubenstein,2009-11-05 First in a series examining connections between international and public law discussing sanction implementation within the confines of domestic law The Accountant ,1883 Indigenous Peoples and the private sector Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations,2025-01-31 This study presents the systematization of relationships deemed successful between Indigenous Peoples and private sector organizations in Latin America The intention of this study is to foster the incorporation of new dimensions that strengthen the impact of Indigenous Peoples in the transformation of their relationship with private entities making them more symmetrical and transparent for the benefit of society as a whole Twelve experiences were selected from eight Latin American countries corresponding to diverse productive sectors such as metallic and non metallic mining food tourism gastronomy energy and hydrocarbons In these experiences Indigenous Peoples are predominantly negotiators of agreements but in some cases they also participate as trading partners Furthermore this report includes cases in which the state has various levels of participation and influence in achieving agreements or agreements The study shows that although mutually beneficial relationships between companies and communities are not the norm they can be established Even so positive relationships usually emerge from long processes from the development of trust on both sides and with great contribution from international agreements on the matter Additionally the document recommends that companies consider local Indigenous communities as partners rather than beneficiaries and align their mission with greater knowledge and understanding of Indigenous Peoples States are recommended to ensure compliance with international regulations and strengthen their capacity in this regard The recommendation for Indigenous Peoples is to include among their assets the impact and interaction with the non Indigenous world and finally it is recommended that international organizations move towards the binding nature of international agreements on the matter among other recommendations
