H. Reese, 2017-06-06 The Short Story in Midcentury America provides in depth case studies of four major writers of the post World War II era Paul Bowles Mary McCarthy Eudora Welty and Tennessee Williams examining how they used the contained aesthetics of short fiction to map out an oppositional stance to the dominant narratives both political and literary of mid twentieth century U S culture Sam V H Reese presents a new understanding of the connections between politics ideology and literary form arguing that writers employed the short story to critique the cultural mores of the early Cold War The four authors under discussion found themselves socially marginalized by mainstream U S culture due to such factors as their gender sexual orientation religion and foreign residence Reese shows that each author embraced the short story s compressed form as a means of resisting political coercion and conformity speaking out in support of freedom and open expression Reese argues that these four writers used the formal restrictions of the short story to develop a type of fiction that became recognizably countercultural challenging the expansive sprawling novels then receiving acclaim from critics His analysis underscores the means by which each author's short stories utilized the aesthetic practices of mediums outside conventional narrative fiction Bowles's career as a composer McCarthy's criticism and memoirs Williams s playwriting and Welty s photography By studying both their prose and its conceptualization Reese reveals how writers resisted the political and stylistic pressures that defined U S literary culture in the early years of the Cold War In The Short Story in Midcentury America Reese establishes a new framework for considering countercultural literature in the United States reassessing the critical standing of the short story and re evaluating the relationship between marginal social positions and literary form during the mid twentieth century Twentieth-Century American Fiction in Circulation Matthew Vechinski, 2019-10-17 Twentieth Century American Fiction in Circulation is a study of the twentieth century linked story collection in the United States It emphasizes how the fictional form grew out of an established publishing model individual stories printed in magazines revised and expanded into single author volumes that resemble novels which creates multiple contexts for the reception of this literature By acknowledging the prior appearance of stories in periodicals the book examines textual variants and the role of editorial emendation drawing on archival records drafts and correspondence whenever possible It also considers how the pages of magazines create a context for the reception of short stories that differs significantly from that of the single author book The chapters explore how short stories appearing separately then linked together excel at representing the discontinuity of modern American life convey the multifaceted identity of a character across episodes mimic the qualities of oral storytelling and illustrate struggles of belonging within and across communities The book explains the appearance and prevalence of these narrative strategies at particular cultural moments in the evolution of the American magazine examining a range of periodicals such as The Masses Saturday Evening Post Partisan Review Esquire and Ladies Home Journal The primary linked story collections studied are Sherwood Anderson s Winesburg Ohio 1919 William Faulkner s The Unvanguished 1938 Mary McCarthy s The Company She Keeps 1942 John Barth s Lost in the Funhouse 1968 and Amy Tan s The Joy Luck Club 1988 Seeds of the Sixties Andrew Jamison, Ron Eyerman, 2023-04-28 The Sixties The powerful images conveyed by those two words have become an enduring part of American cultural and political history But where did Sixties radicalism come from Who planted the intellectual seeds that brought it into being These questions are answered with striking clarity in Andrew Jamison and Ron Eyerman's book The result is a combination of history and biography that vividly portrays an entire culture in transition The authors focus on specific individuals each of whom in his or her distinctive way carried the ideas of the 1930s into the decades after World War II and each of whom shared in inventing a new kind of intellectual partisanship They begin with C Wright Mills Hannah
