Drawing on interviews with Nigeria's writers, publishers, booksellers and readers, surveys and a careful reading of close to 500 Nigerian novels from lightweight romances to literary masterpieces, Wendy Griswold explores how global cultural flows and local conflicts meet in the production and reception of fiction. She argues that Nigerian readers and writers form a reading class that unabashedly believes in progress, rationality and the slow but inevitable rise of a reading culture. But they do so within a society that does not support their assumptions and does not trust literature, making them modernists in a country that is simultaneously premodern and postmodern. Without privacy, reliable electricity, political freedom or even social toleration of bookworms, these Nigerians write and read political satires, formula romances, war stories, complex gender fiction, blood and sex crime capers, nostalgic portraits of village life and profound explorations of how decent people get by amid urban chaos. Bearing Witness is an inventive and moving work of cultural sociology that may be the most comprehensive sociological analysis of a literary system ever written.      The Book of Hours Davis Bunn, 2009-07-20. Castle Priory is a crumbling Oxfordshire mansion once considered a place of extraordinary enchantment. But for Brian, there is no enchantment, only the burden of trying to honor Sarah's dying wish that he hold onto the property. With the local doctor Cecilia Keeble, Brian begins to explore the mysteries of the old estate. In the process, he discovers a medieval secret which offers a key to renew his spirit and heal his broken heart. The power of prayer reaches through the centuries in a surprising and mysterious way.
