Who Owns the Media? Benjamin M. Compaine, Douglas Gomery, 2000-07-13 This thorough update to Benjamin Compaine's original 1979 benchmark and 1982 revisit of media ownership tackles the question of media ownership providing a detailed examination of the current state of the media industry. Retaining the wealth of data of the earlier volumes, Compaine and his co-author Douglas Gomery chronicle the myriad changes in the media industry and the factors contributing to these changes. They also examine how the media industry is being reshaped by technological forces in all segments as well as by social and cultural reactions to these forces. This third edition of Who Owns the Media has been reorganized and expanded, reflecting the evolution of the media industry structure. Looking beyond conventional wisdom and expectations, Compaine and Gomery examine the characteristics of competition in the media marketplace, present alternative positions on the meanings of concentration, and ultimately urge readers to draw their own conclusions on an issue that is neither black nor white. Appropriate for media practitioners and sociologists, historians, and economists studying mass media, this volume can also be used for advanced courses in broadcasting, journalism, mass communication, telecommunications, and media education. As a new benchmark for the current state of media ownership, it is invaluable to anyone needing to understand who controls the media and thus the information and entertainment messages received by media consumers. Magazine

Journalism Tim Holmes, Liz Nice, 2011-11-10 For those of us who long ago experienced the magazine love bite and have been battling the prejudice and scant attention shown this beautiful medium ever since, here at last is the book to set the record straight. Nicholas Brett, Deputy Managing Director, BBC Magazines. At a time when magazines are undergoing active redefinition, this book represents a welcome intervention. It engages with a host of pressing issues in a manner alert to professional priorities while at the same time encouraging new ways of thinking about the challenges shaping this fast-moving field. Holmes and Nice are trustworthy guides taking the reader on what proves to be a fascinating journey. Stuart Allan, Professor of Journalism, Bournemouth University. Magazines are the most successful media format ever to have existed, so begins Magazine Journalism as it traces how magazines arose from their earliest beginnings in 1665 to become the ubiquitous format we know today. This book combats the assumptions among media academics as well as journalists that magazines somehow don't count and presents a compelling assessment of the development and innovation at the heart of magazine publishing. In magazines, we find some of the key debates in journalism: from the genesis of marketing to the reader, to feminist history, subcultures, and tabloidization. Embedding these questions in a thoroughly historical framework, Holmes and Nice argue for an understanding of magazine journalism as essential in the media landscape. Moving beyond the semiotic and textual analysis so favoured by critics of the past, the authors complete the story with an exploration of the production and consumption of magazines. Drawing on interviews with more than 30 magazine journalists across the industry, what emerges is a story of resilience, innovation, and a unique ability to embrace new markets and readerships. Magazine Journalism takes the reader to the heart of key questions in the past, present, and future of journalism and is essential reading.
