

A friendly reminder that Mrs. Doubtfire ended with Robin Williams in full drag, getting his own show reading to kids...

There was no outrage when it came out. Nobody was protesting the theaters or claiming it to be propaganda.

Seriously, grow the f*ck up.

The Men Out There A Womans Little Black:

Tripping the Prom Queen Susan Shapiro Barash, 2007-03-06 Tripping the Prom Queen is a groundbreaking investigation into the dark secret of female friendship rivalry Susan Shapiro Barash has exploded the myth that women help one another are supportive of one another and want each other to succeed Based on interviews with women across a broad social spectrum she has discovered that the competition between women is more vicious precisely because it is covert She tells us Why women can't and won't admit to rivalry How women are trained from an early age to compete with one another In which areas women most heatedly compete How rivalry is different among women than among men The differences between competition envy and jealousy When competition is healthy and when it isn't Why women find it irresistible to trip the prom queen Useful strategies to stop the competition and forge a new kind of relationship with other women Whether you've tripped the prom queen or been tripped yourself you will discover an engrossing exploration of this female phenomenon as well as a beacon of hope for better more fulfilling relationships recount the experiences of African women warriors from prehistory to the nineteenth century Black Feminist Thought, 30th Anniversary Edition Patricia Hill Collins, 2022-05-16 In the first major update to this classic book in many years Collins traces the history and contours of Black women's ideas and actions to argue that Black feminist thought is the discourse that fosters Black women's survival persistence and success against the odds Through meticulous research that synthesizes the important intellectual work done by Black women Collins's timely update demonstrates that Black women's ideas and actions are not marginal concerns but rather are central to the future of social justice within democratic societies The combination of the text's classic arguments and a preface and epilogue written expressly for this edition speak to people who have long been working on social justice and to a new generation of readers who are encountering the ideas and actions of Black women for the first time For this 30th year anniversary edition Patricia Hill Collins examines how the ideas in this classic text speak to contemporary social issues and identifies the directions needed for the future of Black feminist thought

Sociologists have long been curious about the ways in which city dwellers negotiate urban public space How do they manage myriad interactions in the shared spaces of the city In Urban Nightlife sociologist Reuben May undertakes a nuanced examination of urban nightlife drawing on ethnographic data gathered in a Deep South college town to explore the question of how nighttime revelers negotiate urban public spaces as they go about meeting socializing and entertaining themselves May's work reveals how diverse parties define these spaces in particular the ongoing social conflict on the streets in bars and nightclubs and in the various public spaces of downtown To explore this conflict May develops the concept of integrated segregation the idea that diverse groups are physically close to one another yet rarely have meaningful interactions rather they are socially bound to those of similar race class and cultural backgrounds May's in depth research leads him to conclude that social tension is stubbornly persistent in part because many participants fail to make the connection between contemporary relations among different groups and the historical and institutional forces that perpetuate those very tensions structural racism remains obscured by a superficial appearance of racial harmony Through May s observations Urban Nightlife clarifies the complexities of race class and culture in contemporary America illustrating the direct influence of local government and nightclub management decision making on interpersonal interaction among groups Watch a video with Reuben A Buford May Watch video now <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=VCs1xExStPw> The Black Women Oral History Project.
