Migration, Work and Home-Making in the City Annabelle Wilkins, 2019-04-30 This book explores the relationships between home work and migration among Vietnamese people in East London demonstrating the diversity of home making practices and forms of belonging in relation to the dwelling workplace and wider city Engaging with wider scholarship on transnationalism urban mobilities and the geopolitical dimensions of home among migrants and diasporic communities the author draws on ethnographic work to examine the experiences of people who migrated from Vietnam to London at different times and in diverse circumstances including individuals who arrived as refugees in the 1970s as well as those who have migrated for work or education in recent years Migration Work and Home Making in the City thus sheds new light on the social material and spiritual practices through which people create senses of home that connect them with their country of origin and reveals how home making is constrained by immigration policies insecure housing and precarious work thus highlighting the barriers to belonging in the city The Child ,1946 Gender, Generations and the Family in International Migration Albert Kraler, Eleonore Kofman, Martin Kohli, Camille Schmoll, 2011 Family related migration is moving to the centre of political debates on migration integration and multiculturalism in Europe It is also more and more leading to lively academic interest in the family dimensions of international migration At the same time strands of research on family migrations and migrant families remain separate from and sometimes ignorant of each other This volume seeks to bridge the disciplinary divides Fifteen chapters come up with a number of common themes Collectively the authors address the need to better understand the diversity of family related migration and its resulting family forms and practices to question if not counter simplistic assumptions about migrant families in public discourses to study family migration from a mix of disciplinary perspectives at various levels and via different methodological approaches and to acknowledge the state's role in shaping family related migration practices and lives Rear cover New Generation ,1924
