The Muslim World Book Review, 2000

The Politics of Writing in Iran Kamran Talattof, 2000-05-01 Emerging in the late nineteenth and twentieth centuries as a secular activity Persian literature acquired its own modernity by redefining past aesthetic practices of identity and history By analyzing selected work of major pre and post revolutionary literary figures Talattof shows how Persian literary history has not been an integrated continuum but a series of distinct episodic movements shaped by shifting ideologies Drawing on western concepts modern Persian literature has responded to changing social and political conditions through complex strategies of metaphorical and allegorical representations that both construct and denounce cultural continuities The book provides a unique contribution in that it draws on texts that demonstrate close affinity to such diverse ideologies as modernism Marxism feminism and Islam Each ideological standard has influenced the form characterization and figurative language of literary texts as well as setting the criteria for literary criticism and determining which issues are to be the focus of literary journals

In the Shadow of World Literature

Michael Allan, 2016-04-05 We have grown accustomed to understanding world literature as a collection of national or linguistic traditions bound together in the universality of storytelling Michael Allan challenges this way of thinking and argues instead that the disciplinary framework of world literature far from serving as the neutral meeting ground of national literary traditions levels differences between scripture poetry and prose and fashions textual forms into a particular pedagogical aesthetic and ethical practice In the Shadow of World Literature examines the shift from Qur'anic schooling to secular education in colonial Egypt and shows how an emergent literary discipline transforms the act of reading itself The various chapters draw from debates in literary theory and anthropology to consider sites of reception that complicate the secular religious divide from the discovery of the Rosetta stone and translations of the Qur'an to debates about Charles Darwin in the modern Arabic novel Through subtle analysis of competing interpretative frames Allan reveals the ethical capacities and sensibilities literary reading requires the conceptions of textuality and critique it institutionalizes and the forms of subjectivity it authorizes A brilliant and original exploration of what it means to be literate in the modern world this book is a unique meditation on the reading practices that define the contours of world literature
