The Automated Battlefield:

The Automated Battlefield Frank Barnaby, 1986 Tactical Automation on the Battlefield Robert N. Townsend, U.S. Army Command and General Staff College. School of Advanced Military Studies, 1992 Arms and Artificial Intelligence Stockholm International Peace Research Institute, 1987 The impact of information technology in the field of military decision making is superficially less visible than that of a number of other weapon developments though its importance has grown steadily since the beginning of the 1980s Owing to its potential role in modern weapon systems and the prospect of its inclusion as an essential ingredient in many military projects such as the Strategic Defence Initiative it has become the focus of special interest and efforts This book is the first attempt to present a broad overview of the prospects for information technology in general and machine intelligence in particular in the context of international security The dangers and promises of weapon and arms control applications of computers and artificial intelligence to decision making processes are analysed in a technical strategic and political perspective by experts from six different countries In an introductory chapter Allan Din presents a generic overview of artificial intelligence and its prospects Thirteen contributors then discuss the conceptual and technical framework of artificial intelligence analyse implications for weapon systems and strategy and discuss possible applications to arms control verification and modelling Information Management for an Automated Battlefield Command and Control System Robert Warren Blum, 1980 Arms Uncontrolled Frank Barnaby, Ronald Huiskens, Stockholm International Peace Research Institute, 1975 The arms race has become a global phenomenon Each year the world spends a staggering sum on armaments total military expenditure is almost equal to the entire national income of the poorer half of mankind aid given underdeveloped countries is a mere 5 percent of money spent for military purposes resources devoted to medical research are less than a quarter of those devoted to military research and development

Microelectronics and Society G. Friedrichs, A. Schaff, 2013-10-22 Through automation and miniaturisation microelectronics has vast potential for thrusting society into a new phase It promises to revolutionise the information handling aspects of our lives But to gain maximum benefit from this breakthrough microelectronics must be harnessed to society's needs To help this process a multidisciplinary group of authors has prepared a report to the Club of Rome on the likely impact of microelectronics on our futures Parameters, 1982 The Scientific Way of Warfare Antoine J. Bousquet, 2022-06-15 Bousquet's landmark book examines the impact of key technologies and scientific ideas on the theory and practice of warfare and the handling of the perennial tension between order and chaos on the battlefield Spanning the entire modern era from the Scientific Revolution to the present it offers a systematic account of modern warfare as the constitution of increasingly complex assemblages of bodies and machines whose integration rests upon a military assimilation of scientific thought Reflecting the pervasive influence of scientific conceptual frameworks upon warfare modern armies have been successively organised by reference to the paradigmatic technologies of the clock engine computer and network Conversely major scientific developments and technological breakthroughs have become intertwined with the experience of war especially since the Second World War s unprecedented mobilisation of scientific rationality and technical expertise This increasingly tight symbiosis between science technology and war is at the heart of both the tremendous powers and enduring pathologies displayed by the contemporary military machine In this new and revised edition Bousquet extends the analysis to encompass the latest developments in the scientific way of warfare in the midst of renewed great power competition and a wave of technological innovation in artificial intelligence and robotics The Automated Battlefield
