Imperial Ideology and Provincial Loyalty in the Roman Empire Clifford Ando, 2013-08-29 The Roman empire remains unique Although Rome claimed to rule the world it did not Rather its uniqueness stems from the culture it created and the loyalty it inspired across an area that stretched from the Tyne to the Euphrates Moreover the empire created this culture with a bureaucracy smaller than that of a typical late twentieth century research university In approaching this problem Clifford Ando does not ask the ever fashionable question Why did the Roman empire fall Rather he asks Why did the empire last so long Imperial Ideology and Provincial Loyalty in the Roman Empire argues that the longevity of the empire rested not on Roman military power but on a gradually realized consensus that Roman rule was justified This consensus was itself the product of a complex conversation between the central government and its far flung peripheries Ando investigates the mechanisms that sustained this conversation explores its contribution to the legitimation of Roman power and reveals as its product the provincial absorption of the forms and content of Roman political and legal discourse Throughout his sophisticated and subtle reading is informed by current thinking on social formation by theorists such as Max Weber Jürgen Habermas and Pierre Bourdieu

Lee,2006-07-20 At first glance Paul s words to the Corinthians about being the body of Christ seem simple and straightforward He compares them with a human body so that they may be encouraged to work together each member contributing to the good of the whole according to his or her special gift However the passage raises several critical questions which point to its deeper implications Does Paul mean that the community is like a body or is he saying that they are in some sense a real body What is the significance of being specifically the body of Christ Is the primary purpose of the passage to instruct on the correct use of spiritual gifts or is Paul making a statement about the identity of the Christian community Michelle Lee examines Paul s instructions in 1 Corinthians 12 14 against the backdrop of Hellenistic moral philosophy and especially Stoicism A Teacher's Commentary on First and Second Corinthians Dan R. Owen,2021-09-07 A Teacher s Commentary on First and Second Corinthians is especially designed as a practical tool for those who preach from the Corinthian letters or teach Bible studies from them The reflective questions at the end of each chapter as well as the appendices at the end of the book are designed to help the teacher in personal understanding instruction and in practical matters of the church The material on First Corinthians will help ministers with many practical church matters and encourage them to work for unity in the church during times of conflict The material on Second Corinthians will help ministers navigate relationships with people in their churches over time and at the same time remain faithful to Christ in ministry Epidemics and War Rebecca M. Revelation and the Marble Economy of Roman Ephesus Anna M. V. Bowden, 2020-12-10 In an effort to bring the impracticalities of John s command for withdrawal from cultural participation in 18 4 to the forefront of scholarly discourse this book reconstructs the marble economy of ancient Ephesus and proceeds to read Revelation by foregrounding the daily lives of its marble workers This book argues that Ephesus was a major center of the marble economy in the Roman world and that the infrastructure that went into creating building and sustaining such an enterprise generated the need for a large workforce Anna M V Bowden further demonstrates that the majority of marble workers endured poor working conditions and struggled on a daily basis to ensure subsistence Finally Bowden explores the ways marble workers participated in empire through the work of their hands 9 20 and questions John s characterization of marble workers as idolaters sorcerers murderers fornicators and thieves Bowden concludes that the praxis Revelation requires from its audience of complete withdrawal is pragmatically not sustainable and is ultimately a manifesto leaving marble workers jobless hungry and with a heightened risk for malnutrition disease injury and even death
