It draws on a wide range of work in contemporary philosophy including Samuel Scheffler's discussions of human extinction, Jonathan Lear's exploration of radical hope, David Benatar's anti-natalism, work on procreative ethics by Rivka Weinberg, Melinda Roberts and Elizabeth Harman, and the author's own previous work on collective consequentialism, future ethics, and alternative conceptions of divine purpose. A central question throughout the book is whether we could equip our descendants to flourish in an ending world even if we cannot imagine flourishing there ourselves. The book defends an innovative account of our obligations to future people based on the need to launch multigenerational projects to transform our inherited traditions and values so that they will still make sense even at humanity's end.
