The Marriages Between Zones Three Four And Five:

The Marriages Between Zones Three, Four, and Five (as Narrated by the Chroniclers of Zone Three) Doris Lessing, 1980 A mix of fable futuristic fantasy and pseudo documentary accounts of 20th century history The Marriages Between Zones Three, Four, and Five (as Narrated by the Chroniclers of Zone Three) Doris Lessing, 1981 The Marriages Between Zones Three, Four, and Five: Doris Lessing's Alchemical Allegory Roberta Rubenstein, 1970 Read This Next Howard Mittelmark, Sandra Newman, 2010-11-02 Are you tired of bland overly earnest reading guides that discuss the same old books Read This Next by Sandra Newman and Howard Mittelmark is the answer A smart irreverent honest and truly hilarious guide to your 500 new favorite books Read This Next is aimed at those readers and book groups that are looking for great reading suggestions with more variety and spice than the usual book club picks while offering food for thought and laughter in equal measure Politics, Persuasion, and Pragmatism Ellen Susan Peel, 2002 An addition to the Theory and Interpretation of Narrative series Peel's book addresses how feminist utopian narratives attempt to persuade readers to adopt certain beliefs Using three feminist utopian novels as her main examples The Marriages between Zones Three Four and Five by Doris Lessing The Left Hand of Darkness by Ursula K Le Guin and Les Guérillères by Monique Wittig Peel examines how belief bridging and protean metaphor in these works persuade readers Literary persuasion often dismissed as propaganda in fact works in subtle and profound ways The book presents major techniques by which narrative literature exercises this sophisticated influence on beliefs Ultimately concluding that the pragmatic works better than the static in utopian feminism Peel shows how in novels such as those under discussion the narrative techniques support pragmatism Inquiring how narrative form can shape political belief by affecting readers responses the author integrates topics that are rarely combined The book investigates three theoretical issues utopian belief distinguishing the perfectionism of the static from the vitality of the pragmatic and showing how the latter creates narrative energy the persuasive process tracing narrative form and asking how implied readers match real ones and how readers are swayed by belief bridging and protean metaphor and feminist belief a nuanced definition that accounts both for what links feminists and what makes them diverse Politics Persuasion and Pragmatism explores the rhetorical and ethical power of narrative literature Doris Lessing Gayle Greene, 1994 An original and compelling appraisal of this important international literary figure The Marriage Quest in Canopus Deborah Ann Shaw, 1992 Identity in Doris Lessing's Space Fiction David F. Waterman, 2006 In this study of identity in Doris Lessing's space fiction David Waterman devotes a chapter to each of the five novels in the Canopus in Argos Archives series as well as Briefing for a Descent into Hell Memoirs of a Survivor and finally The Reason for It This is an important addition to understanding the works of this prolific author His major argument is that Lessing's space fiction identifies the universal problem society's division into competitive and predatory groups and places it outside the bounds of time and space encouraging a social critique which takes into account our inherited blindness our degenerative

disease which must be addressed before genuine progress can be made Lessing s examination of the relationship between individual identity and group identity produces a productive tension that accounts for so much of interest in her work over many years Nowhere is that tension more obvious or more interesting than in the space fiction that David Waterman so ably explores Waterman writes convincingly of Lessing s desire to cut through the performance the received ideas the habits and customs of our daily lives Drawing on a wide range of sources he provides an interdisciplinary reading of the space fiction and maps Lessing s brave exploration of the hierarchical landscapes that so often imprison us Waterman offers a timely reading of Lessing for contemporary readers living in the landscape of globalization Professor Margaret Moan Rowe Purdue University

The Span of Mainstream and Science Fiction Peter Brigg, 2015-09-16 From the 1960s when the advent of what many call the postmodern style made establishing genres more difficult to the present day writers have been incorporating science not only the commonly thought of science and technology but also the soft sciences such as psychology and sociology into what was previously considered mainstream fiction This book examines works by Thomas Pynchon Doris Lessing and others who incorporate science in fiction and exemplify the movement of mainstream fiction writers toward a new genre termed span It also examines works by some science fiction writers who are edging closer to the border of science fiction and slowly over into span This book maps the boundaries of the new span genre of fiction and thus helps define texts that fall outside the realms of mainstream and science fiction Diagrams are included and a bibliography and index

Doris Lessing and the Forming of History Brazil Kevin Brazil, 2016-09-20 Explores Doris Lessing s innovative engagement with historical change in her own lifetime and beyond The death of Nobel Prize winning Doris Lessing sparked a range of commemorations that cemented her place as one of the major figures of twentieth and twenty first century world literature This volume views Lessing s writing as a whole and in retrospect focusing on her innovative attempts to rework literary form to engage with the challenges thrown up by the sweeping historical changes through which she lived The 12 original chapters provide new readings of Lessing s work via contexts ranging from post war youth politics and radical women s writing to European cinema analyse her experiments with genres from realism to autobiography and science fiction and draw on previously unstudied archive material The volume also explores how Lessing s writing can provide insight into some of the issues now shaping twenty first century scholarship including trauma ecocriticism the post human and world literature as they emerge as defining challenges to our own present moment in history

Key Features Offers a critical overview of the full range of Lessing s work setting the agenda for future study of her writing Provides new readings of an unprecedented range of Lessing s writing including previously unstudied archive material landmark novels such as The Golden Notebook drama and reportage essays memoirs and short stories Situates Lessing in relation to new literary and cultural contexts including the nineteenth century novel series cinema and post war youth culture Relates Lessing s work to contemporary theoretical debates on post humanism trauma ecocriticism radical women s writing and world literature
