fetuses in monuments and portable objects dating from 1400 to 400 BC and originating throughout much of Mesoamerica This highly original study sheds new light on the prominent roles that women and gestational beings played in Early Formative societies revealing female shamanic practices the generative concepts that motivated caching and bundling and the expression of feminine knowledge in the 260 day cycle and related divinatory and ritual activities Reconsidering Olmec Visual Culture is the first study that situates the unique hollow babies of Formative Mesoamerica within the context of prominent females and the prevalent imagery of gestation and birth It is also the first major art historical study of La Venta and the first to identify Mesoamerica s earliest creation narrative It provides a more nuanced understanding of how later societies including Teotihuacan and West Mexico as well as the Maya either rejected certain Formative Period visual forms rituals social roles and concepts or adopted and transformed them into the enduring themes of Mesoamerican symbol systems
