The Arts And The American Home 1890 193:

The Arts and the American Home, 1890-1930 Jessica H. Foy, Karal Ann Marling, 1995-07 Between 1890 and 1930 the domestic arts as well as the daily life of the American family began to reflect rapid advances in technology aesthetics and attitudes about American culture Pictorial literary musical and decorative arts from this era all reveal a shift from clutter to clarity and from profusion to restraint as modern conveniences ranging from pre stamped needlework patterns to central heat were introduced into the domestic environment However the household arts were also affected by an enduring strain of conservatism reflected in the popularity of historically inspired furnishing styles In this collection of essays ten experts in turn of the century popular and material culture examine how the struggle between modernity and tradition was reflected in various facets of the household aesthetic Their findings touch on sub themes of gender generation and class to provide a fascinating commentary on what middle class Americans were prepared to discard in the name of modernity and what they stubbornly retained for the sake of ideology Through an examination of material culture and prescriptive literature from this period the essayists also demonstrate how changes in artistic expression affected the psychological social and cultural lives of everyday Americans This book joins a growing list of titles dedicated to analyzing and interpreting the cultural dimensions of past domestic life Its essays shed new light on house history by tracking the transformation of a significant element of home life its expressions of art

Deconstructing Global Citizenship Hassan Bashir, Phillip W. Gray, 2015-10-30 The success of individual nation states today is often measured in terms of their ability to benefit from and contribute to a host of global economic political socio cultural technological and educational networks This increased multifaceted international interdependence represents an intuitively contradictory and an immensely complex situation This scenario requires that national governments whose primary responsibility is towards their citizenry must relinquish a degree of control over state borders to constantly developing trans and multinational regimes and institutions Once state borders become permeable all sorts of issues related to rights earned or accrued due to membership of a national community come into question Given that neither individuals nor states can eschew the influence of the growing interdependence this new milieu is often described in terms of shrinking of the world into a global village This reshaping of the world requires us to broaden our horizons and re evaluate the manner in which we theorize human personhood within communal boundaries It also demands us to acknowledge that the relative decline of Euro American economic and political influence and the rise of Asian and Latin American states at the global level have created spaces in which a de territorialized and a de historicized notion of citizenship and state can now be explored The essays in this volume represent diverse disciplinary analytical and methodological approaches to understand what the implications are of being a citizen of both a nation state and the world simultaneously In sum Deconstructing Global Citizenship explores the question of whether a synthesis of contradictory national and global tendencies in the term global citizenship is even possible or if we are better served by fundamentally reconsidering our ideas of citizenship community and
