Verbruggen,2012-12-06 This book is concerned with Artificial Intelligence AI concepts and techniques as applied to industrial decision making control and automation problems The field of AI has been expanded enormously during the last years due to that solid theoretical and application results have accumulated During the first stage of AI development most workers in the field were content with illustrations showing ideas at work on simple problems Later as the field matured emphasis was turned to demonstrations that showed the capability of AI techniques to handle problems of practical value Now we arrived at the stage where researchers and practitioners are actually building AI systems that face real world and industrial problems This volume provides a set of twenty four well selected contributions that deal with the application of AI to such real life and industrial problems These contributions are grouped and presented in five parts as follows Part 1 General Issues Part 2 Intelligent Systems Part 3 Neural Networks in Modelling Control and Scheduling Part 4 System Diagnostics Part 5 Industrial Robotic Manufacturing and Organizational Systems Part 1 involves four chapters providing background material and dealing with general issues such as the conceptual integration of qualitative and quantitative models the treatment of timing problems at system integration and the investigation of correct reasoning in interactive man robot systems The Nature and Development of Decision-making James P. Byrnes,2013-04-15 Although everyone has goals only some people successfully attain their respective goals on a regular basis With this in mind the author attempts to answer the question of why some people are more successful than others He begins with the assumption that the key to personal success is effective decision making and then utilizes his own theory The Self Regulation Model to explain the origin and nature of individual differences in decision making competence The author also summarizes a number of existing models of decision making and risk taking This book has two primary goals to provide a comprehensive review of the developmental literature on the decision making skills of children adolescents and adults and to propose a theoretical model of decision making skill that offers a better description of this skill than prior accounts Taken together the literature review and theoretical model help the reader acquire a clear sense of the development of decision making skills as well as reasons for the developmental differences that seem to emerge
