Mills,2014 Most scholarship has attributed Sudanese independence in 1956 to British dominance of the Condominium historical animosity toward Egypt or the emergence of Sudanese nationalism Dividing the Nile counters that Egyptian entrepreneurs failed to develop a united economy or shared economic interests guaranteeing Egypt's loss of the Sudan It argues that British dominance of the Condominium may have stymied initial Egyptian efforts but that after the First World War Egypt became increasingly interested in and capable of economic ventures in the Sudan However early Egyptian financial assistance and the seemingly successful resolution of Nile waters disputes actually divided the regions while later concerted efforts to promote commerce and acquire Sudanese lands failed dismally Egyptian nationalists simply missed opportunities of aligning their economic future with that of their Sudanese brethren resulting in a divided Nile valley Dividing the Nile will appeal to historians social scientists and international relations theorists among those interested in Nile valley developments but its focused economic analysis will also contribute to broader scholarship on nationalism and nationalist theory

The Condo Board David H. Brown, 2019-11-20 Anyone living in a gated community or in a condominium property knows there is an elected board of directors They wield a lot of power and spend the residents money wisely or not Acrimony often sets in The board in this novel is no different There is skullduggery innocence pathos trust and mistrust The president of the board is conflicted and disappears This introduces the subplot All come together in an exciting way but the ending is a surprise because there is not any hint of it Readers may well identify with the fictitious board The author and his wife live in two different residences that have condo boards One in Florida is a house in a gated community The other is an apartment in a high rise building in a Washington DC suburb This unique novel was sparked by personal observation plus comments from others who live in similar communities
