The Conquest of the Coeur D'Alenes, Spokanes and Palouses Benjamin Franklin Manring,1912 Fighting Colonialism with Hegemonic Culture Maureen Trudelle Schwarz,2013-01-22 How and why do American Indians appropriate images of Indianness for their own purposes How do these representatives promote and sometimes challenge sovereignty for indigenous people locally and nationally American Indians have recently taken on a new relationship with the hegemonic culture designed to oppress them Rather than protesting it they are currently earmarking images from it and using them for their own ends This provocative book adds an interesting twist and nuance to our understanding of the five hundred year interchange between American Indians and others A host of examples of how American Indians use the so called White Man s Indian reveal the key images and issues selected most frequently by the representatives of Native organizations or Native owned businesses in the late twentieth century and the opening years of the twenty first century to appropriate Indianness settlement by the falls in 1871 That year brought the arrival of two Montana cattle ranchers S R Scranton and J J Downing In 1873 they were joined by James N Glover the so called father of Spokane and his friends Jasper N Matheny and Cyrus F Yeaton Because of the economic depression caused by the Panic of 73 the town grew slowly throughout the remainder of the decade Conditions improved in the 1880 s spurred by the coming of the Northern Pacific Railroad in 1881 and the 1883 discovery of gold in the Coeur d Alene Mining District of Idaho The gold rush was short lived but by the close of the decade vast deposits of lead and silver were discovered On the basis of the town s nearness as well as D C Corbin s combination rail water route to the mines Spokane Falls became the jumping off point to the Coeur d Alenes A wholesale retail trade soon flourished as Spokane Falls became the place to purchase everything from a horse to a frying pan From 1880 to 1890 Spokane Falls grew from a frontier village with a population of 350 to a boom town of 19 922 Then at the time when the city s hopes seemed brightest it was destroyed by fire on a hot August evening in 1889 Chapter two opens late on the evening of the fire It describes the plight of those who lost homes or businesses and what was done to help them Reconstruction quickly followed and plans and in some cases actual construction began almost before the fire s embers were cold With winter not far off and most of the new buildings not yet completed a tent city rose from the ruins That winter severe weather disrupted railroad service for weeks at a time and left the city isolated Construction was halted which put many men out of work for the duration of the winter Boredom was a problem and men flocked to the numerous saloons and gambling dens Occasionally there were incidents of violence one of which resulted in a backlash of moral outrage and the establishment by citizens of a Law and Order League Construction resumed the following spring and many of the new structures surpassed anything built before the fire By January 1891 $266 600 had been spent on new buildings in what was the greatest spurt of construction activity in Spokane s history The early 1890 s brought greater development of mines in the Coeur d Alene District many of which were owned by Spokane men Attention was also focused on new discoveries in the Kootenay region of southern British Columbia Spokane merchants provided many of the supplies needed by the miners and strengthened the city s claim as the center of trade for the Inland Empire This end was furthered in 1892 by the coming to Spokane of the Great Northern Railway as well as the gradual construction of a system of short feeder lines Despite their obvious value railroads were criticized throughout the American West for what was seen as unnecessarily high freight rates Spokane businessmen felt the same way and expressed their anger by filing an unsuccessful complaint with the Interstate Commerce Commission Rising freight rates added to the costs of mining production and combined with falling lead silver prices cut the owner s profits In addition in 1892 a disastrous strike and outbreak of violence by miners resulted in the closure of many of the mines Economic conditions worsened in 1893 94 with the onset of a depression brought by the Panic of 93 In Spokane banks failed business declined and many of the new buildings which had been financed on borrowed money were lost to creditors During the depression Spokane was the scene of encampments by Coxey s Army and of a riot caused by the Pullman Strike both of which were problems experienced elsewhere around the country Even during hard times mining continued to grow in importance and the Kootenay Coeur d Alenes and the area around Republic began to revive Spokane s economy by 1895 96 a full year or more before the rest of the country Mines such as the Le Roi and War Eagle and mining corporations formed by Spokane men Charles Sweeny and Jay P Graves brought large sums of money into the city This was invested in new construction light manufacturing trade and banking which assured Spokane s position as the leading city of the Inland Empire By 1915 either directly or indirectly a host of new buildings could be attributed to this wealth Among them were the Davenport Hotel and the Paulsen and Old National Bank buildings Spokane s growth culminated during the period 1900 to 1910 Population alone nearly tripled rising from 36 848 to 104 402 For Spokane the four decades from 1871 through 1915 was its period of greatest growth which saw it change from frontier adolescent into what would soon become a conservative medium sized city Document Spokane Story Lucile Foster Foster,2020-03-05 At the falls of the Spokane River in the heart of Washington s now booming Inland Empire Spokane stands as a symbol of an America that in many ways is only just beginning and Miss Fargo here gives the story of its rise from trading post to regional metropolis Lightly and skillfully she brings the city and its past to life through the toil the triumphs the zest for work and fun of its citizens people like Ross Cox scribbling clerk of the fur trade era who was lost for two terrifying weeks in the Palouse hills Father Cataldo of the Jesuits from whose rock pile arose Gonzaga University the hotel keeper s wife whose party dress froze to the wall just as she was about to show Spokane its first waltz Jim Glover Father of Spokane and Dutch Jake who ran a gambling resort and crossed swords with Ida Tarbell Spokane Story is the colorful history of a colorful city and its people from the years of its lusty youth to the day when a clergyman sat in the Mayor s chair and a new city charter heralded the end of its days as a frontier town

Spokane Story Lucile Foster Fargo,1950 Presents the life and culture of Spokane during successive phases of its development from fur trade days to the attainment of municipal adulthood in the early years of the 20th century Spokane and Coeur D'Alene Freshwater Shark Attacks James Johnson,2022-03-11 Spokane and Coeur d Alene Freshwater Shark Attacks both spoofs and gives the real history of 37 landmarks in the Spokane and Coeur d Alene area The main focus is a nutty absurd account of how these well known landmarks came to be For example the 2 huge cylindrical brick structures in downtown Spokane were silos for launching space missions until NASA moved to Cape Canaveral in the late 1960s The US Navy submarine that surfaced in a field in the Spokane Valley in the 1950s it was exploring the underground aquifer from its Lake Pend Oreille base and the crew mistakenly thought they were at a lake Because Lake Coeur d Alene was originally a bay on the Pacific Ocean it teems with marine life and supplies area restaurants with sushi and seafood As well a remnant population of great white sharks is responsible for several vicious attacks every year Following each absurd account a brief real history is given allowing readers peace of mind that many of our apparent hazardous favorite places really aren t that way At 84 pages 16 500 words and with photos for each landmark this book can be read in an afternoon
