History of the Literary Cultures of East-Central Europe Marcel Cornis-Pope,John Neubauer,2006-09-13 Continuing the work undertaken in Vol 1 of the History of the Literary Cultures of East Central Europe Vol 2 considers various topographic sites multicultural cities border areas cross cultural corridors multiethnic regions that cut across national boundaries rendering them permeable to the flow of hybrid cultural messages By focusing on the literary cultures of specific geographical locations this volume intends to put into practice a new type of comparative study Traditional comparative literary studies establish transnational comparisons and contrasts but thereby reconfirm however inadvertently the very national borders they play down This volume inverts the expansive momentum of comparative studies towards ever broader regional European and world literary histories While the theater of this volume is still the literary culture of East Central Europe the contributors focus on pinpointed local traditions and geographic nodal points Their histories of Riga Plovdiv Timișoara or Budapest of Transylvania or the Danube corridor to take a few examples reveal how each of these sites was during the last two hundred years a home for a variety of foreign or ethnic literary traditions next to the one now dominant within the national borders By foregrounding such non national or hybrid traditions this volume pleads for a diversification and pluralization of local and national histories A genuine comparatist revival of literary history should involve the recognition that treading on native grounds means actually treading on grounds cultivated by diverse people

The Sea and Civilization

Lincoln Paine,2015-10-27 A monumental retelling of world history through the lens of the sea revealing in breathtaking depth how people first came into contact with one another by ocean and river lake and stream and how goods languages religions and entire cultures spread across and along the world s waterways bringing together civilizations and defining what makes us most human The Sea and Civilization is a mesmerizing rhapsodic narrative of maritime enterprise from the origins of long distance migration to the great seafaring cultures of antiquity from Song Dynasty human powered paddle boats to aircraft carriers and container ships Lincoln Paine takes the reader on an intellectual adventure casting the world in a new light in which the sea reigns supreme Above all Paine makes clear how the rise and fall of civilizations can be linked to the sea An accomplishment of both great sweep and illuminating detail The Sea and Civilization is a stunning work of history Frege Dale Jacquette,2019-04-04 Gottlob Frege 1848 1925 is one of the founding figures of analytic philosophy whose contributions to logic philosophical semantics philosophy of language and philosophy of mathematics set the agenda for future generations of theorists in these and related areas Dale Jacquette s lively and incisive biography charts Frege s life from its beginnings in small town north Germany through his student days in Jena to his development as an enduringly influential thinker Along the way Jacquette considers Frege s ground breaking Begriffsschrift 1879 in which he formulated his ideal logical language his magisterial Grundgesetze der Arithmetik 1893 and 1903 and his complex relation to thinkers including Husserl and especially Russell whose Paradox had such drastic implications for Frege s logicism Jacquette concludes with a thoughtful assessment of Frege s legacy His rich and informative biography will appeal to all who are interested in Frege s philosophy

International Status in the Shadow of Empire Cait Storr,2020-09-17 Nauru is often figured as an anomaly in the international order This book offers a new account of Nauru s imperial history and examines its significance to the histories of international law Drawing on theories of jurisdiction and bureaucracy it reconstructs four shifts in Nauru s status from German protectorate to League of Nations C Mandate to UN Trust Territory to sovereign state as a means of redescribing the transition from the nineteenth century imperial order to the twentieth century state system The book argues that as international status shifts imperial form accretes as Nauru s status shifted what occurred at the local level was a gradual process of bureaucratisation Two conclusions emerge from this argument The first is that imperial administration in Nauru produced the Republic s post independence failures The second is that international recognition of sovereign status is best understood as marking a beginning not an end of the process of decolonisation Acta Periodica Duellatorum (vol. 2)

The Underground Wealth of Nations Jeannette Graulau,2019-01-01 Silver mining was a capitalist business long before the supposed origin of modern capitalism Hundreds of years before a sixteenth century crisis in European agriculture led to the origins of capital investment and finance the silver mining industry exhibited many of the features of modern capitalism Silver mines were large scale businesses that demanded large investments and steady cash flow achieved by spreading that risk through fungible shares and creating legal structures to protect entrepreneurs from financial disaster Jeannette Graulau argues that mining preceded agriculture as the first true capitalist enterprise of the modern world The Hansa Towns Helen Zimmern,1889 War, Politics and Finance in Late Medieval English Towns Christian Drummond Liddy,2005 The strengthening of ties between crown and locality in the fourteenth century is epitomised by the relationships between York and Bristol then amongst the largest and wealthiest urban communities in England and the crown This book combines a detailed study of the individuals who ruled Bristol and York at the time with a close analysis of the texts which illustrate the relationship between the two cities and the king thus offering a new perspective on relations between town and crown in late medieval England Beginning with an analysis of the various demands financial political and commercial made upon the towns by the Hundred Years War the author argues that such pressures facilitated the development of a partnership in government between the crown and the two towns meaning that the elite inhabitants became increasingly important in national affairs The book goes on to explore in detail the nature of urban aspirations within the kingdom arguing that the royal charters granting the towns their coveted county status were crucial in binding their ruling elites into the apparatus of royal government and giving them a powerful voice in national politics
