Krueger, 2005-02-17 This study challenges the view that all courtly literature promoted the social status of women Unlike previous books which focused on knights it starts from the perspective of the woman reader listener Using reader response theory feminist criticism and recent historical studies it suggests that romances taught gender roles often inviting readers to criticise and resist them Imagining the Woman Reader in the Age of Dante Elena Lombardi, 2018-05-10 Imagining the Woman Reader in the Age of Dante brings to light a new character in medieval literature that of the woman reader and interlocutor It does so by establishing a dialogue between literary studies gender studies the history of literacy and the material culture of the book in medieval times From Guittone d'Arezzo's piercing critic the villainous woman to the mysterious Lady who bids Guido Cavalcanti to write his grand philosophical song to Dante's female co editors in the Vita Nova and his great characters of female readers such as Francesca and Beatrice in the Comedy all the way to Boccaccio's overtly female audience this particular interlocutor appears to be central to the construct of textuality and the construction of literary authority This volume explores the figure of the woman reader by contextualizing her within the history of female literacy the material culture of the book and the ways in which writers and poets of earlier traditions imagined her It argues that these figures are not mere veneers between a male author and a real male readership but that although fictional they bring several advantages to their vernacular authors such as orality the mother tongue the recollection of the delights of early education literacy freedom in interpretation absence of teleology the beauties of ornamentation and amplification a reduced preoccupation with the fixity of the text the pleasure of making mistakes dialogue with the other the extension of desire original simplicity and new and more flexible forms of authority In Readers' Hands Sabrina Corbellini, Wim François, Renske A. Hoff, 2024-10-28 This volume explores the production transmission and reading practices of vernacular Bibles in early modern Europe This varied collection of essays provides historical book historical literary theological and art historical perspectives to the movements of manuscript and printed Bibles The contributions concern Bibles in many different languages and from across the European continent from Ireland to Portugal Rather than perceiving Scripture and the material carriers of Scripture as static things this volume demonstrates how Bibles constantly acquired new meanings and functions as they moved through time and space and were touched by the hands of makers readers and users
