The Bat People:

Made from Bone Jonathan D. Hill, 2010-10-01 Made from Bone is the first work to provide a complete set of English translations of narratives about the mythic past and its transformations from the indigenous Arawak speaking people of South America. Among the Arawak speaking Waku nai of southernmost Venezuela, storytellers refer to these narratives as words from the primordial times and they are set in an unfinished space-time before there were any clear distinctions between humans and animals, men and women, day and night, old and young, and powerful and powerless. The central character throughout these primordial times and the ensuing developments that open up the world of distinct peoples, species, and places is a trickster creator, Made from Bone, who survives a prolonged series of life-threatening attacks and ultimately defeats all his adversaries. Carefully recorded and transcribed by Jonathan D. Hill, these narratives offer scholars of South America and other areas the only ethnographically generated cosmogony of contemporary or ancient native peoples of South America. Hill includes translations of key mythic narratives along with interpretive and ethnographic discussion that expands on the myths surrounding this fascinating and enigmatic character with broad appeal throughout various folkloric traditions.

The Vampire in Science Fiction Film and Literature Paul Meehan, 2014-07-07 Vampires have been a popular subject for writers since their inception in 19th-century Gothic literature and later became popular with filmmakers. Now the classical vampire is extinct, and in its place are new vampires who embrace the hi-tech worlds of science fiction. This book is the first to examine the history of vampires in science fiction. The first part considers the role of science and pseudo-science from late Victorian to modern times in the creation of the vampire, as well as the sensation fiction of J. Sheridan Le Fanu, Bram Stoker, Arthur Conan Doyle, and H. G. Wells. The second part focuses on the history of the science-fiction vampire in the cinema from the silent era to the present. More than sixty films are discussed, including films from such acclaimed directors as Roger Corman, David Cronenberg, Guillermo del Toro, and Steven Spielberg, among others.
